Abandon Idea Of Republicans In U. S. Cabinet

Naming Of Edison Halts Projected Bi-Partisan Cabinet Selections

WAR SITUATION SPURRED MOVE

Landon And Knox Had Been Suggested As Likely To Be Offered Posts

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12—Secretary of the Navy Charles Edison was secure in his post today after his senate confirmation temporarily halted a new deal plan to have President Roosevelt's incorporate prominent Republicans in his cabinet for the duration of the European emergency.

The idea was taken up by the president early last summer, when his advisers told him war was inevitable in Europe. Then, he seriously considered offering cabinet posts to Alf M. Landon of Kansas, and Col. Frank Knox of Chicago, the Republican presidential and vice presidential candidates of 1936.

Idea Abandoned

The president now has abandoned the idea for the moment, as evidenced in Edison's appointment. However, it may be revived if the wars in Europe involve new belligerents or undergo developments deemed dangerous to American institutions. One such threatening development, in the presidential mind, would be a sudden German victory over the allies.

One of the staunchest advocates of a bi-partisan cabinet during the war emergency is Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, himself a former Republican. His special candidate is Col. Knox, who pub-

PA NEWC OBSERVES

No new detours are listed on the detour bulletin for the period ending January 26, issued by the Pennsylvania highway department. Considerable construction work is going on in various sections of the state, where traffic is being maintained. Three new bridge projects in the eastern part of the state are listed, where traffic is being maintained over temporary bridges, overhanging rocks are being removed from highways and similar work is being done, most of it in the eastern and central sections of the state.

Change in weather conditions yesterday resulted in a heavy fog developing over the district on Thursday night. Driving on many of the highways was quite difficult. A light rain was falling and the temperature rose above the freezing mark.

Fifteen minute free parking zones have been established in sections at the post office to enable persons to transact their mail business. However, according to Traffic Commissioner Thomas Jones, a close check is maintained and violators of the 15-minute free parking will receive tags.

Twenty Thousand Red Troops Are Facing Trap

By PETER DE HEMMER GUDME
International News Service Special Correspondent

HELSINKI, Jan. 12.—Twenty thousand more Russian troops today rushed headlong into a trap which the Finns have just closed on an equal number in the Salla sector.

Latest Finnish reports said a division of 20,000 Red army soldiers were definitely trapped after a long and hard fight in which the jaws of the two Finnish columns closed in slowly.

Their annihilation will start at once, and will be completed before a similar division, sent on a rescue mission, can arrive.

Reinforcements May Meet Disaster

In a former case in the same area, rescue reinforcements themselves were drawn into the Finnish net and wiped out, and it was believed that the new division hastening westward from Kandalaksha would meet a similar fate.

With a dual Russian offensive in the Petsamo sector of the far north repulsed, latest information in Helsinki indicated that two more Russian divisions are about to be caught in a similar net north of Lake Ladoga.

Thus three Russian divisions already have been wiped out or trapped, eliminating some 60,000 Soviet soldiers from the war, and a further 40,000 seen about to be gorged by the Finns in the south.

Intensified Aerial And Naval Warfare Continues Third Day

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Jan. 12—Skies above Britain and Germany again were streaked with airplanes today in the third successive day of intensified aerial and naval warfare.

Tackled by British fighting planes and attracting the fire of anti-aircraft guns, German observation and bombing craft dipped over widely-separated areas on the east coast of England and Scotland.

A wall of shrapnel was hurled aloft by British anti-aircraft guns when a plane assumed to be German flew at a great height over the estuary of the Thames river.

Steamer Bombed

It was disclosed today that during yesterday's raids by German planes the 1,706-ton British steamer Keynes was bombed and sunk in the North Sea. One of the Nazi raiders scored five direct hits.

Seventeen members of the crew were landed safely.

Soviet Failure In Finland Invasion Results In Purge

Army Leaders And Important Personages Reported To Have Been "Liquidated"

By VERNER FORCHHAMMER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 12.—Infuriated by the abject failure of the Soviet military campaign in Finland, Josef Stalin has widened his purge to include industrial and diplomatic as well as army leaders and many important personages have already been "liquidated", it was reported in Copenhagen today.

Among those reported to have felt the dictator's wrath were A. A. Zhdanov, director of the Soviet press and publisher of the official Communist party newspaper Pravda, who was said to have advised Stalin to invade Finland and predicted a "walkover" victory like that scored by the Russia army in Poland.

Others were said to have been General Meretzov, former military commander of the Leningrad district who led the first Russian troops into Finland and V. K. Derevianskv, Soviet minister to Helsinki.

Both of these men, according to the Copenhagen reports, have been executed.

German Bombing Plane Roars Over London District

(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 12.—A German bombing plane roared over the London area in the face of heavy anti-aircraft fire today as for the third day in succession the Reich sent a fleet of war craft over the British Isles.

First driven out to sea after attempting to reach the Thames river estuary, the plane returned and swept over certain districts of the capital.

Hotly pursued by British planes, the nazi raider then turned north. Heavy anti-aircraft fire was heard throughout the city, but the planes were not seen in flight or combat.

Democratic Party Committee Treasurer Asks Quashing Of Demand For Books

ATTACKS PETITION IN ACTION TODAY

Appearing for Charles Miller of Volant, treasurer of the Democratic county committee, Attorney Clarence A. Patterson today filed a motion with Judge Thomas W. Dickey to quash the recent rule to show cause why the books of the county committee should not be brought in before a committee and audited. The committee asked for a mandamus to force Miller to release the books.

The motion to quash sets out a number of reasons why the rule to show cause should be quashed. It avers that no cause of action has been shown, that the court is without jurisdiction, and that the petition fails to allege sufficient facts to entitle the petitioners to the relief prayed for.

"Vague and Indefinite"

It further avers the petition to be "vague and indefinite, evasive and wilfully intentionally fails to allege vital and material facts, known to the petitioner". It further sets out that the petition fails to clearly and precisely set forth facts to support the issuance of a mandamus.

It sets out that the petition does

COMMITTEE HEARING DEVELOPS FACTS

Wives And Husbands Found Drawing Big Salaries From Federal Funds

By GRIFFING BANCROFT, JR.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Investigation of duplication of employment wherein husbands and wives are each drawing federal pay was predicted today by a member of the Smith National Labor Relations board investigating committee.

The prediction came as the committee heard from a parade of pretty young women, some with socialite backgrounds and educations at the most exclusive finish schools and all employed by the board as review attorneys.

Records show that no less than 14 of these young Portias—most of them identified as having "liberal views" and one as having "turned left"—are working for the board. All of them have been called to testify before the committee.

Three of Five Married

Of the first five who have been questioned so far, three are married and in every case friend husband is a federal employe in some other department.

Miss Margaret Bennett—like their sisters on the stage they prefer to retain their maiden names—is the wife of John W. Porter. She gets $3500 a year from the board and he gets $4200 as an attorney in the anti-trust division of the department of justice.

Miss Bennett, a flashing brunette graduate of Vassar, was described in a letter recommending her to the board as having "liberal views turned left". She so annoyed committee Counsel Edmund Toland for what he claimed were "unresponsive answers" that he excused her before completing the cases he intended to take up.

Miss Anne Freeling, 29, and also a brunette who gets $3000 a year from the board, is in private life the wife of Julius Schlezinger, an em-

First Lady Of State Is Ill In Miami, Fla.

Miss Dorothy James Has Attack of Influenza, Doctor Says

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 12.—Her strength sapped from the shock of her brother's sudden death, plus the intense activity of her father's political campaign and the hurry and bustle of serving as the state's first lady, Miss Dorothy James, 24-year-old daughter of Gov. Arthur H. James, today was ill in Miami with an attack of influenza.

Governor James expected to reach his daughter's bedside late today or early tomorrow. Miss James is at the Miami villa of Col. Carl L. Estes, the governor's intimate friend and political adviser.

By long-distance telephone yesterday, Col. Estes reassured the governor that "there is nothing wrong with her that rest, good food and sunshine won't cure."

Miss James was attended in Florida by Dr. John Snyder, physician for the late Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago, after his fatal wounding while in company with President Roosevelt six years ago.

Dr. Snyder told Miss James Estes asserted, that "she is a sick girl and that she must make up her mind that she must refill her reservoir of energy."

The governor expected to remain in Florida only 48 hours.

Eventual Death Toll Of 91 Miners Seen In Disaster

Message "All Hope Abandoned" Is Flashed From Rescue Gangs

TWENTY-THREE ARE NOW RECOVERED

West Virginia Blast Is One Of Worst Mine Disasters Of Recent Years

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

BARTLEY, W. Va., Jan. 12.—Foreshadowing an eventual death toll of 91 soft coal workers, an "all hope abandoned" message was flashed to the surface today from rescue gangs who had striven to free their comrades trapped by an unexplained explosion in the No. 1 mine of the Pond Creek Pocahontas coal company.

The message apparently indicated that the rescue crews had reached the two subterranean sections where the fate of 64 missing men previously had been undetermined.

Twenty-Three Bodies Removed

Earlier today, 23 additional bodies had been removed from the blast-shattered corridors which yesterday yielded four other victims. The "all hope abandoned" message apparently sealed the doom of the other 64 and marked one of the greatest mine disasters of recent years.

Removal of the remaining bodies probably will not be completed until late today. The sections where these men were trapped are still choked with splintered timber, slate and rock and huge segments of coal dislodged by the blast. Clearance of a passageway must precede extrication of the bodies.

No supporting brattices were visible in the death cell penetrated this morning by rescuers who have been working in four shifts since the blast occurred in the mine owned by the Pond Creek Pocahontas Coal Company.

London Foresees Major Retaliatory Stroke By Hitler For Sea Defeats

By ROBERT NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Stung by a series of smashing naval defeats, Chancellor Hitler was reported in neutral diplomatic quarters in London today to be preparing an attempted major retaliatory stroke against Great Britain of which the aerial activity of the last 72 hours may have been the feeling-out processes.

The British high command is confident, however, that it can more than cope with any surprise that the German fuehrer may spring on sea, air or land.

Britain Hoping

Naval circles, jubilant over their success in clearing the seas of the raider Admiral Graf Spee and the torpedoing of three German cruisers, are openly hoping Germany will be goaded into sending the remainder of the German high seas fleet into the North Sea for an engagement with the British grand fleet.

Report Rising Tax Returns In State

Fiscal Outlook Is Brightened

Heavy Tax-Return Months Are Just Ahead For Pennsylvania

STATE OFFICIALS ARE ENCOURAGED

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Jan. 12—Rising tax returns today brightened the fiscal outlook for the James administration and brought hopes for further revenue increases during the heavy tax-return months of February, March and April.

Returns at the end of the first quarter of the present biennium from the cigarette and gasoline taxes indicated that if the present intake continued an additional $5,500,000 might be received above the estimated amount. The two taxes accounted for more than $50,000,000 during the last biennium.

Major Imposts

Two other major imposts, the inheritance and estate tax, which brought in $31,350,000 and the business license taxes, which accounted for $7,320,000, appeared to be running according to estimate.

Encouraged by this, fiscal officers of the James administration pinned their hopes for additional revenue on the returns due in February, March and April from such major taxes as those on personal property, corporation net income, capital stock, insurance premiums, and liquor.

Many of the these are emergency taxes, originally levied in 1935 by the Earle administration and re-enacted by the James regime. They are estimated to bring in $163,000,000 in a biennium, but James administration leaders hope the intake will be considerably more.

"We'll have a pretty good idea within the next three months of just what increase in tax revenue the business upturn has brought about" said a budget office official. "The big ones come in then and they'll tell the story one way or the other."

Believe Reds To Push On

Weighing two theories, one that the Russians are giving up all attempts at major offensives until spring, and two, that the Soviets, directed personally by Josef Stalin, have been ordered to press on regardless of the cost, military observers leaned to the latter opinion.

The assaults in the Petsamo region, and the dispatch of Soviet reinforcements to the Salla area tended to show that the "Stalin offensive" theory was the more correct.

Amid the broader campaigns at Petsamo, Salla, and Lake Ladoga, darting Finnish ski patrols continued to harass Soviet lines of communication, slashing deep into Soviet territory and cutting off detachments vital connections.

Report Stalin Directs

Stalin, reported to be directing operations by telephone from the Kremlin, continued his clean-up and reshuffling of the army command and political commissars on the Finnish fronts.

At Kronstad, the Russian naval base on the Gulf of Finland, Gen. L. Z. Mekhlis chief army political commissar—a Communist party "watch dog" over the army—gave a stern lecture to 300 under-commissars and blamed them for the poor morale of the Russian army.

Among 1,500 prisoners on the Suomussalmi front were many nurses and women interpreters, who have been put to work caring for the Russian wounded in Finnish hospitals.

Temperatures which dropped to 40 degrees (Fahr.) below zero aided in hampering Russian activities on the eastern front.

Big guns, however, again pounded the Mannerheim line of fortifications on the Carelian Isthmus.

Finnish officers estimated the Russian forces there at 400,000, and the number of Soviet army artillery guns at 2,000.

lishes the Chicago Daily News. Ickes endorsed Knox frequently for the Navy post that eventually went to Edison.

Edison May Run For Senate

Rumors prevail Edison will resign from the cabinet shortly to become a candidate for the New Jersey senate seat held by Republican Senator Warren Barbour. If that happens, Ickes is expected to resume his campaign to get Knox in the cabinet. Some insiders say Ickes would like Knox in the cabinet because Ickes would like to run for Governor of Illinois next fall with the support of Knox's Chicago paper.

The Knox appointment has its Democratic critics too—in the persons of Chicago Mayor Edward J. Kelly and Illinois governor Henry Horner. They charge Ickes, who debated running against Kelly for mayor last year, is trying to muscle in on Illinois democracy through his influence in Washington. Both bitterly resent appointment of Knox to the cabinet.

So does Postmaster General James A. Farley, who was never consulted on the question. But Jim hates the idea too.

This is the Democratic side of the story. The other, or Republican side is that neither Landon nor Knox would accept a cabinet post, short of the nation being actually at war. Indeed, one rumor here is that the president actually offered the Navy post to Knox on a December Sunday, following the gridiron dinner, and that the Chicago publisher declined it with thanks. This rumor though is denied by some high new dealers, who insist no tender ever was made by the president.

Present United Front

In considering the idea of a bi-partisan cabinet, Mr. Roosevelt is pictured as motivated by a conviction that the United States must present a United, non-partison front to Europe in the recent emergency. He has called national unity "the most valuable asset of a nation in dangerous times" and again described it as a "fundamental safeguard of all democracy."

Both Landon and Knox appeared to approve this policy. About two years ago, Landon startled his Republican brethren by declaring "politics must end at the water's edge." Knox then and since has advocated a coalition cabinet if the United States became involved in a grave international crisis. These declarations coincided with the president's own views, so he toyed with the idea of bringing both men into his cabinet.

Landon was first to throw cold water on the plan, even though he may not have known it at the time. His offense was to hit the third term in a Boston political speech, June 13, saying "I don't believe any man with the exaltation and the sense of public service and patriotism that comes from the high office of the presidency will accede to such demands (to seek a third term)."

LONDON FORESEES MAJOR RETALITORY STROKE BY HITLER

Such a sea battle, it is asserted, could have but one outcome—destruction of the German fleet.

Speculation in neutral quarters here on what step or steps Hitler may take to avenge his naval losses pivot on the following possibilities:

1. That Germany's huge air armada may at last be turned loose in an "all or nothing" attempt to answer the enigma of air power versus sea power by throwing hundreds of bombers in waves against the British fleet.

Another "Secret" Weapon

2. Hitler may have another "secret" weapon, more devastating than the magnetic mines, to unleash against British and neutral shipping in an attempt to stave out Britain by counter-blockade.

3. The long-expected mass land attack may be unleashed in the west with a race to the sea through Holland or Belgium or both.

That a new counter-stroke is bound to come from Germany to regain the prestige lost at home through the successive major naval disasters is considered virtually certain in informed quarters.

More sober minds, however, casting an eye at the treacherous weather which enshrouds the North Sea and British Isles in an almost perpetual icy mist during the winter, express the belief that if Hitler is to unleash his air fleet in huge numbers he must await the coming of spring.

Mrs. Annie Houston Haley, aged 79 years, wife of John B. Haley, Sr., of 407½ Clenmore boulevard, passed away in the Jameson Memorial Hospital Thursday afternoon at 2:35 o'clock, after a lingering illness of a year's duration. Mrs. Haley contracted a streptococcic sore throat a year ago, and never recovered from the effects of this ailment, her condition gradually growing worse, necessitating her removal to the hospital two weeks ago.

She was born October 14, 1860, in Franklin, Pa., the daughter of Robert and Sarah Maxwell Houston. She was married to Mr. Haley on September 28, 1881, at Emlenton, Pa., and with her husband, observed their 58th wedding anniversary last fall. After their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Haley moved to New Wilmington, where Mr. Haley engaged in the drug business, and where they resided for 18 years before coming to New Castle, where they have since resided.

Mrs. Haley was a woman who possessed a lovable Christian character, active in the affairs of the Central Presbyterian church, of which she had been a member for many years. Two Person Leap From Burning Home

Husband And Wife Both Jump From Windows As Flames Damage Swissvale Home

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 12—Trapped by flames, two persons leaped to safety today as fire gutted a frame house in suburban Swissvale. Firemen carried another person from the structure.

Mrs. Pete Masko, 18-year-old wife, who had been ill all night, grabbed her husband's overcoat, threw it over her nightgown and climbed out the window as flames barred a flight through the narrow hallways.

She hung precariously on the window ledge by her fingertips before dropping to the roof. From there, she leaped to the ground. Her husband duplicated her escape.

Mrs. Lucy Demarzo, 50, owner of the building and first-floor occupant, became hysterical and had to be carried to safety by Swissvale volunteer firemen. The Robert Radokovic family on the second floor, fled before the flames reached them.

All belongings, except the clothes on their backs, were lost by the three families.

soared over the Yorkshire coast but was quickly driven out to sea by British fighting planes.

A third plane, thought also to be a Heinkel, was spotted high over the Suffolk coast. An anti-aircraft barrage drove it off in a south-easterly direction.

Flights Over Germany

These flights, in which no bombs were dropped on land, followed British night observation flights over west and northwest Germany.

The air ministry announced also that "security" patrols continued their flights over Sylt, Heligoland, and other German seaplane bases in Beligoland Bight to keep German mine-laying and bombing craft from taking off.

Losses to British merchant shipping mounted as the Cromer lifeboat station reported that the 2,719-ton British steamer Granta hit a mine and sank off the east coast. Another vessel picked up the Granta's crew.

(A German communique said three British patrol vessels and one armed merchantman which opened fire on reconnoitering German planes were bombed and sunk, and one British plane was shot down in aerial combat.)

Also that it does not have annexed thereto a copy of the petition alleged to have been signed by 67 county committeemen. Also that the petition does not contain the name of the chairman of the meeting and that no copy of the rules was furnished. Finally the answer states that the petition shows the meeting to have been illegal.

Judge Dickey signed an order staying any further proceedings in the quest for a mandamus and the probabilities are now that the issue will be placed on the argument list and heard sometime during the first week of February.

In the meantime another meeting of the insurgent Democrats will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the court house at which time it is expected there will be further developments in the attempt to make changes in the leadership of the Democratic committee in this county.

tor, virtually gave up hope. Commenting on the finding of the dozen bodies, he said:

"Evidence of violence around that section indicates that every man in the mine is doomed.

"Two loading machines weighing a ton each were blown 60 feet from their original position and the track upon which they rested was twisted badly.

"Unless men in other sections succeeded in putting up brattices they hardly could have survived."

In the face of this disquieting expression mine officials and rescuers pressed through the slate and debris that still blocks entrance to other wrecked sections. From within came nothing that would indicate whether any of the entombed group are still alive.

Between two and three thousand persons, many of them weeping wives and relatives of the unfortunates below, braved a slight rain to wait at the mine's entrance for the news so tragic to many. Hoping for the best but fearing the worst, this group stood stoically behind rope barriers throughout the second night of rescue operations. Dawn and rain today did not dim their determination to wait until word comes from below that all are dead or some are brought to the earth's surface and the waiting arms of worried loved ones.

State Trooper Goes On Stand

Franklin Starts Testimony In Own Defense At Mauch Chunk Trial

(International News Service)

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa., Jan. 12—Benjamin Franklin, 200-pound Pennsylvania State Police corporal, took the witness stand today to justify his firing eight bullets into 14-year-old Joan Stevens on the night of last June 5.

The tiny carbon county courtroom was jammed to the doors as the burly trooper walked to the witness chair to testify in his own defense.

In second row seats sat his attractive wife, Pauline, 26, and his mother, Mrs. Mary Franklin, 60, as small and frail as her 30-year-old son is big and brawny.

Before court opened, the defendant's mother described her son as "a good boy" who never gave his parents any trouble.

Neatly garbed in a dark blue suit, the suspended trooper swore in a firm and steady voice to tell "the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth".

LESS CAREFUL DRIVING AT HOME?

THE director of New York state's division of vital statistics has made an interesting discovery about automobile accidents. He finds that city dwellers seem to be safer while away on driving trips than while driving in their own communities.

An extensive study of traffic fatalities in New York cities of more than 10,000 population (outside of the metropolis) showed that 337 of the total of 407 dead were residents of the communities in which the accidents took place. Only seventy were non-residents or transients.

If this fact is generally true, it will be interesting to know why. Are people more careful when they are on trips? Or is it merely that, in spite of all our vacation motoring in this country, we still do by far the greatest amount of driving within the limits of our own neighborhoods and towns?

These statistics are in line with those for all accidents, from which we learn that more people are accidentally killed in their own homes than in traffic or in occupational activities.

SETTING THE BRITISH PEOPLE STRAIGHT

The editorial opinion of the London Times, that most American citizens "share President Roosevelt's sympathies" for the Allies, synchronizes, perhaps intentionally, with our government's vigorous protest against British tampering with United States mails consigned to Germany and to neutral nations and other high-handed methods.

However that may be, the British people would do well to consider the remark by another London newspaper, which has no affiliations with their government, the Daily Mail, regarding "the illusion that the United States is likely to give us anything more than sympathy or goods for cash."

The Daily Mail further observes that "there has been far too much moral and mental leaning on America during the past two decades." However our people's natural sympathies may incline, their practical extent has been accurately defined by the Daily Mail, and a clear realization of this fact might have the British considerable disappointment.

INSIGHT AFFORDED BY CLOTHES

Civilization provides a protective covering of manners and conversation, by which people conceal their real selves. The person you talk with may be a liar but he often conceals it by his correct manners.

As we look into these faces which are masks covering the real heart, we are at a loss to know what people really are. Clothes give us a clue. We may not be able to tell if a man is dishonest by looking at his clothes, but at least if he is well dressed he is probably orderly and efficient. It may be said that many modern gangsters look very smooth, and are almost too well dressed. Such men are likely to give themselves away by their extreme style. Simplicity plus neatness is a combination that does not often tell a wrong story.

The well dressed lady also gives an impression that she moves with the times, and has taste. The human eye is charmed by beauty.

Clothes being a power, it is good judgment to dress as well as one can afford. If a man's suit is shabby, people ask if his work will not be slip-shod, too. Good clothes will never take the wearer to heaven, but anyone can do better work in the world if his raiment fits and is well cared for.

WHEN SPRING ROLLS AROUND

There is something merciful in the Arctic weather in which Finland's war is being fought. It clothes the horror of the scene with a white mantle of snow so that those who come along after the battle has been fought are not aware that they are standing upon the stage where a great human tragedy has been enacted.

Leland Stowe writes in the Chicago Daily News of his visit to the battlefield of Tolvajarvi a few days ago: "In this sad solitude lie the dead: Uncounted thousands of Russian dead. They lie as they fell—twisted, gesticulating and tortured. They lie beneath a kindly mask of two inches of newly fallen snow. All along the roadway we saw strange shapes bulging beneath the snow among the trees and shapes which sometimes might have been logs. Sometimes they looked like crooked limbs cast into the discard by the woodman's ax. It did not seem quite possible that these could have been human beings only a few days ago, or that Tolvajarvi's snow concealed more and more hundreds of dead."

Mercifully, winter has clothed the scene in a garb of purity and beauty, but what an appalling spectacle will be revealed when spring comes and the snow yields to the warm sun! Then the battlefield of Tolvajarvi will assume the aspects a little vignette from the inferno and the visitor will be given at least a glimpse of what war really means in the way of human anguish.

SOME ANGLES ON TRADE PROSPECTS

Prospects of foreign trade for the United States during the coming year are clouded in two quarters. It appears improbable that the United States and Argentina will get together, since the two countries have so many similar surpluses to sell. And Japanese concessions to date do not indicate that America will restore Nippon to favor commercially.

Japan is plainly worried by the failure of the United States to respond more favorably to the overture partially reopening the Yangtze River to American-British commerce. The Japanese fear that trade relations with this country will continue in a treatyless state, leaving Washington free to declare embargoes on exports at any time.

Oil particularly is worrying Japan. No one over there thinks Russia can supply Japan's needs and the potentialities of the East Indies are not great. It is possible that Japan in this predicament will go much farther in appeasing the United States. Otherwise trade between the two countries may languish on a progressive scale.

The best prospect of increasing American exports, therefore, would seem to hinge upon a quickening demand from the warring countries in Europe. If a broad demand should not develop there, the outlook for sales abroad is uncertain.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TRAINING CONCENTRATION HABITS

I can think of no better training in habits of concentration in the child than for parents to read to him, beginning as soon as he will listen, before he is two years old and continuing past the time he enters school.

Begin with a well-illustrated book which has little reading matter such as "Johnny Crow's Garden" by Leslie Brooks, or a well-pictured book of nursery rhymes. The tot looks at the picture as you read about it. Gradually what he hears you read connects up in his little mind with what he sees. What you read enriches what he sees in the picture.

Quit When He Squirms

As soon as he grows restless and wishes to squirm and run about, close the book and put it away. You don't cultivate good habits of concentration if you read while the youngster is on the move. After several weeks of experience at listening while he sees a picture, he gradually will learn to wait and listen while you read from a page without pictures.

Since one does not need to know much in order to read to the young child, we dads can do it. It is our chance to win the child's companionship and relieve the weary mother.

As we read to the little child we fire his imagination, give him something to think about and talk about. We also give him excellent patterns of language.

The child who has been read to from infancy usually has easy, forceful speech later at home and school. As we read to him he hears better language patterns than he would hear if we told the story, and he hears them in exactly the same way over and over again. Indeed, if we should miscall a single word, he will correct us.

Encourges Reading

We thus motivate him to want to learn to read so he can get such precious stories from the book for himself. Besides, the book from which we read these stories takes on a personality and the child grows tender and careful in the handling of this book.

The older child can read to the younger child causing both to feel more kindly towards each other. The older child can improve his reading skill with this practice.

Nothing makes me happier than to learn from many parents who read this column that they have been reading to their young children. Judging from the letters I receive, thousands of my readers are reading to their tots every day.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. What about tickling children?

A. Some adults, even parents and older children, for self-amusement, tickle the young child. In doing so they excite the child unduly, rendering him less stable emotionally, and visiting on him a great deal of unhappiness. Don't fool yourself. Even though the tickled child may laugh heartily, he is liable to be under tension.

Q. I once tried having my five-year-old boy sit on a chair to punish him. He said he liked it and I gave it up as ineffectual.

A. Your child outsmarted you. Resume this punishment, make the time definite, say 20 minutes, and for the same offense apply exactly the same penalty. Quit talking and arguing.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

NEED SON AND MULE

When American Nationals were called to the colors in the last War, there were thousands and thousands of excuses offered, and those Americans who examined the drafted men as to the plausibility and actuality of all of their excuses often found great absurdities. The European, however, is accustomed to be called to the colors. The universal military training that he has received stands in good stead when the Nation needs his services in the Army or in the Navy. Nevertheless, the officers in the foreign armies do receive requests that husbands, or brothers, or sons be excused from service because of this or that and some of them are just as absurd and some are just as plausible as were the excuses of drafted Americans.

The head of the Swiss Army tells a good story concerning one letter he received from the wife of a mobilized man. The wife writes:

"My General:

"They have mobilized my husband, my son and my mule. To finish the harvest I beseeach you to free my son and my mule, as for my husband, you may keep him in the army, for he is only an old drunkard."

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains — BY FONTAINE FOX

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 4:54. Sun rises tomorrow 7:24.

Ex-President Hoover is a business man and not a politician. This has been proven by his work during the world war and his present work in raising funds for Finnish relief. A business man is always a good man to have around when there is serious business.

At the first Jackson Day dinner, the price was $1 a plate. At the last feed in Washington a plate cost $100. The first meeting was also quite a lot different in other ways.

The great trouble with the average man is that his average isn't quite enough.

THE LAST WORD

The argument on domestic economy was on hot and heavy.

"You buy entirely too many things we have little use for," stormed the husband. "You bought an ice cream freezer and we only have used it three times in a year. Then you bought a lot of other gadgets that I seldom see you use."

"Maybe you're right," said wifey sweetly. "But I notice you bought a fire extinguisher last year and we've never used it once."

One thing sure, people who lay out cities in the future will give a lot of serious attention to the width of streets. The sidewalks don't mean so much, however.

The dream girl becomes a real girl with better acquaintance.

When a man has nothing and owes nothing he has a balanced budget.

SUCH IS FAME

This is one that is told on George Ade:

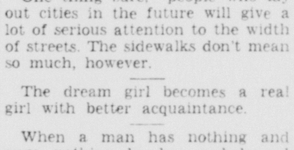

When George was a newspaperman in Chicago he had a large gold watch which he pawned regularly each Monday morning, redeeming it at payday later in the week. As the years went on Ade grew in affluence as he attained nation-wide recognition. Then one day he met his old pawnbroker on the street.

"George, what is the matter?" asked the pawnbroker. "I haven't seen you lately at all. Did you lose the watch?"

The chap who accepts graft money looks pretty small to the fellow who never had an opportunity.

It's a good sign of better times when jurors at court asked to be excused from serving. They can make more on their jobs and may be needed to carry on the work.

Lot's wife was lucky. It is a wonder when she looked back that time she did'nt turn into a culvert.

Oomph: What a star has when she looks good in few clothes and the public no longer seems impressed by the word "glamour."

Pap says the only time that Mother is ever slow in making up her mind is when the waitress passes the French pastry.

We are told a railroad man in this city, is called Ferdinand, the Bull. It is said he enjoys the title.

OR TOMORROW TODAY?

A small-town business man, unused to traveling, was making a trip on the train and was delayed by a blizzard. At the first opportunity he sent a telegram reading as follows:

"Will not be at store today. Am not home yesterday yet."

A man received word that his wife would be home on the afternoon flyer. He cranked up the family bus and proceeded to the depot.

Right on the dot the streamline flyer came by. Standing on a platform waving an envelope was his wife. As the train whizzed through at 50 per she threw the envelope, which was caught in the train's suction and drawn down the tracks, coming to rest in a patch of brush.

The man pursued valiantly. Dusty, scratched and bruised he finally got the letter and opened it, to read this note:

"Dear, the train doesn't stop at this station."

How would you like to be told how much you are to eat each day and have it measured out to you? Wonder what the birds who eat 25 pancakes at breakfast would think of that. Over in England they are doing that.

It's always a good thing to be careful when stepping on ice, also on other things.

A local man went to a doctor. The doctor examined him and said: "There is nothing wrong with you except you hate too many people. Hating people makes you very miserable, and you imagine you are sick."

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

A survey conducted by the Carnegie Foundation showed that out of 10,000 business successes only 15 per cent were due to preparatory technical training and 85 per cent to personal qualities. According to these figures nearly everybody can get started right in business as the result of a magnetic personality rather than because they were trained for the job. Conversely, another survey showed that of 4,000 people who lost their jobs, 85 per cent were discharged for personal qualities and only 15 per cent because of inefficiency. And in these statistics, we find the reason why the girl with the charming personality, who dresses and acts with good taste, is less likely to have to take a strict test before getting her job than is the girl of the opposite category.

Readers' Questions Answered

Dear Miss Markel: My husband is dead and my son, who is named for his father, has brought his wife and son to my home to live. Both my son's wife and I are "Mrs. John A. Smith" which complicates matters. Shouldn't she use the title "Jr." after her name? She thinks not. Also, is my grandson, named after both his grandfather and his father, John A. Smith II or III?—Troubled.

Answer: After "senior" has died, his son should drop the "junior" from his name. You may add "Sr." to your name to distinguish you from your daughter-in-law. Your grandson is John A. Smith III, which means grandson of the first John A. The Roman numeral II indicates a nephew.

Miss Markel will promptly mail personal answers to questions from any reader enclosing self-addressed three-cent stamped envelope.

A Florida judge ruled that a man 69 years old has no business marrying a woman 47 years old. We think the woman, at least should know better.

Reciprocal Trade Probe May Startle
Tariff Discussion Arouses Congress
Has Ever Been Big Party Difference

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Congress gets off in 1940 to the accompaniment of a first-class row over State Secretary Cordell Hull's reciprocal trade treaties. The term "reciprocal trade treaties" sounds a trifle technical and uninteresting. Maybe the average American isn't much thrilled by it. Nevertheless, Uncle Sam's whole tariff policy is involved in the fight. And that's an issue which has been the essential dividing line between our two major parties ever since we've been a republic.

The Republicans (or their party predecessors) have been high protectionists. The Democrats have been low tariff-ites or outright free-traders—at least in theory; some of them have inclined considerably otherwise in actual practice.

Folk whose interests are directly affected by our tariff legislation don't need to be reminded how important it is. However, a lot of us are affected only IN-directly. I suspect that the controversy bores us slightly. We'd do well to pay some attention to it, though; in the long run the whole country's interests are vitally affected.

Secretary Hull's Program

I'm not sure that Secretary Hull is a 100 per cent free trader; he's a very low tariff-ite, anyway.

He got through congress a law permitting the state department to make deals with foreign governments, mutually cutting down tariff rates. His department has been concluding these dickers ever since then, as fast as possible. The Republicans want to stop it. The Democrats are split. By good rights, traditionally, they should be solidly pro-Hull, but they're not. A sizable bloc of them want to put "strings" on Cordell, if not to handcuff him completely.

Just what are the rival groups' respective strengths (the Democratic split being considered) is problematic. The next two or three months will tell.

Incidentally, President Roosevelt is pro-Hull.

A congressional investigation is starting. The Republicans called for it. Instead of objecting, Secretary Hull said he'd welcome an impartial inquiry, being sure it would reveal the benefits of his "reciprocal treaties" super-convincingly. But he said he objected to a quiz dominated by a crew of high protectionists—who'd find against him regardless of the merits of the case.

Investigation Starting

Well, the investigation's starting. It begins in the house of representatives, because financial lawmaking is the nub of it, and the lower congressional chamber has initial authority over the senate on fiscal proportions. The senate can speak later, but the representatives must speak first.

On such questions the representatives' ways and means committee does the first inquisitorial work.

Congressman Robert L. Doughton of North Carolina is chairman of the committee. He's pro-Hull. The committee's ranking Republican is Congressman Allan T. Treadway of Massachusetts. Naturally he's a Hull "anti". Since Doughton's Democrats are in a big majority, they should win—if they stick together. But will they? We'll know presently.

Then the rumpus will get into the senate.

Considering the Past

Taking the rather recent past into consideration, Secretary Hull's at an advantage.

President Herbert Hoover, early in his White House experience, called congress together to tinker with the tariff—not necessarily to boost it, but to equalize it. What it did was to enact a schedule of thumping high impost rates—the Smoot-Hawley law. Depression presently followed. It may have been only a coincidence, but we know what DID follow.

Subsequently, Secretary Hull put across his tariff reduction scheme—and business moderately has been improving. Possibly that was a coincidence also. All the same, it's been a coincidence in Hull's favor.

It's an interesting investigation, anyway—if it's a fair one.

It comes to him with fearful shock,
It cannot stand another block.

"Some day," says he, while musing there,
"I'll have to buy a hat to wear,
When I've a minute I can spare."

"Seven and three-eighths! This time a gray,"
Somewhere a hat clerk hears him say,

Man, almost breathless, leaves the store,
Hatted for five or six years more.

The Great Game Of Politics

Playing It Both Ways

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12

BEFORE the Jackson Day dinner, word went out from usually authoritative New Deal sources that, while the President's speech would not be political, the things he wanted to say of a partisan nature would be said for him in Cleveland by the newly appointed Attorney General, Mr. Robert H. Jackson. Correspondents were tipped off that the Jackson speech was the one to watch.

THIS the 1940 New Deal strategy of playing both ends against the middle is made clear. The idea seems to be that Mr. Roosevelt will maintain publicly his noble nonpartisan pose and speak from a plane high above politics. At the same time his intimate aides and confidential friends will deal with practical politics and practical politicians in a realistic way. It is a clever scheme provided it is not too generally seen through. The trouble with all such plans is that they are just a little too smart and that at some point the authors and sponsors often spoil their own game.

CERTAINLY Mr. Jackson lived up to the quiet advance notices of his speech. A more purely partisan utterance has not been heard from a high public official in a long time. It was so partisan, in fact, as to inspire fear lest it be a little difficult for Mr. Jackson to handle those perfectly awful cases involving the prosecution of certain Democratic politicians which Mr. Murphy is getting in shape to turn over to him. Figuratively speaking he swept the Republican party up in a corner and struck a match to what he seemed to regard as a heap of rubbish. By contrast, his eulogy of the Democratic party set a new record in fulsomeness.

THE gist of the Jackson argument however, was that the matchless character and ability of Mr. Roosevelt, coupled with his appeal to the great mass of independent voters, were the only things that has enabled the Democratic party to triumph in 1932 and 1936. Logically, it followed that the one way for the Democratic party to triumph in 1940 was to renominate Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Jackson climaxed his address with an impassioned plea to the President not to commit himself irrevocably against a third term.

THERE being every reason to believe that Mr. Roosevelt knew what Mr. Jackson was going to say in Cleveland, and that Mr. Jackson knew what Mr. Roosevelt was going to say in Washington it does seem that the candor of both is considerably less than one hundred per cent. For example, the President preaches nonpartisanship to the country just after he has sanctioned a completed partisan speech, by one of his chief spokesmen and friends. And Mr. Jackson, knowing well that the President had no intention of committing himself against a third term, pleads with him not to do something he knows he hadn't the remotest notion of doing. When the facts are examined the hollowness of the two speeches is apparent.

IT ISN'T necessary to point out that in 1932, when Mr. Jackson attributes the Democratic victory wholly to Mr. Roosevelt, there was practically unanimous agreement that any Democrat could have beaten Mr. Hoover that year. But his thesis that the Democrats, always win by getting the independent vote and never get any Republicans ought not to be passed without comment. Mr. Jackson elaborately builds up his theory with figures from Presidential elections since 1920 reiterating his statement that the Democrats can never hope to convert or corral any of the regular Republican troops.

THE absurdity of this statement in the light of the 1936 election facts is apparent. What does Mr. Jack-

So far the chemists have won one decisive victory after another. Their new brain children, conceived in retorts and crucibles, are now used in 50,000 ways never dreamed of five or ten years ago.

BABSON

Plastics, these new materials are called. They are a combination of chemicals, sold in various compounds by the chemists. Manufacturers put these compounds into molds, dies and the like and under heat and pressure they are formed into various designs. From the molds, for instance, comes the plastic in its final form ready for use, —telephone sets, steering wheels, radio cabinets, safety glass, buttons and thousands of other products. Or the compound may be cast into rods, sheets or tubes. Then these are sawed, machined, turned, cut into whatever final shape is desired.

Test Tube Pedigree

This is a rough and simple description of the plastic process. Actually, it is tremendously complicated. In the original experiments plastics are built up synthetically, molecule by molecule, to possess the same qualities as natural products —stone, wood, metals. More than that, their chemical sires improve upon the natural substance in lightness, strength, and beauty of color. They have a scientific pedigree. These synthetic substitutes—"Ersatz" they call them in Germany—can be roughly divided into four general types:

1. Vegetable Plastics: Cellulose, made from powdered spruce or cotton linters, is their base. They are tough and resilient, take a bright polish in colors. You see them most often on the "dash" of your car and as the housing for your radio. By a different treatment, cellulose comes out as thread for rayon underwear and curtain fabrics, stealing the spotlight from silk. Now, from another base, comes Nylon to assault the last great citadel of silk —milady's stockings.

2. Mineral Plastics: Carbolic acid is their base. The test-tube magicians mix it with formaldehyde and call this group the phenolics. They are strong and durable, good insulators, excellent molders. You use them every time you pick up the phone, plug in your bridge lamp, "vac" the living-room rug.

3. Gas and Air Plastics: Urea is their base. They are a combination of four common gases. Some are translucent. Most have bright and gay or soft and delicate colors. Newest of the ureas—Lucite and Plexiglas are wholly transparent—clearer than glass! Unbreakable eyeglasses, super-safety glass, covers for bomber cockpits are the uses of these new concoctions.

4. Animal Plastics: Casein extracted from sour cow's milk is the base. These are old plastics but they are finding new uses every day. Every time you button your vest or take off your overcoat, you're using this old stand-by. Lanital is the newest casein plastic. It's an artificial wool which much resembles the real thing.

Rubbing Aladdin's Lamp

There are literally thousands of these plastics being used now. They are popular because they combine advantages of their own in addition to those of the natural material. It's like rubbing Aladdin's Lamp. If your material isn't resistant to electricity, for example, add a pinch of this and a dash of that, and the resulting plastic is positively shock-proof. If you want your new material to repell moisture, you take a slightly different "rule" out of the recipe book and your new substance is waterproof. No wonder this is the Chemical Age!

Here are just a handful of reasons why the plastics are crowding out the natural materials in this "War of the Substitutes":

1. Easy to Mold
2. Light and Strong
3. Warm and Smooth
4. Good Insulators
5. Easy to Clean
6. Durable and Non-Corrosive
7. Low Manufacturing Cost

"Ersatz" are children of adversity. Plastics rooted themselves in the shade and darkness of the worst depression years. They have grown by leaps and bounds since then. But they have only scratched the surface of their possibilities. Technical progress is rushing ahead. When the plastics finally come to grips with the Maginot Line of the natural materials—automobile bodies —the war will enter its final stage, moreover, it is not being too optimistic to think of all-plastic automobiles and all-plastic airplanes.

Possibilities Of Plastic Planes

America's plane capacity could be speeded tremendously if "duramold" (a plastic made of hardwood veneers pressed with phenolic resin) proves successful. One of the big timetakers in plane building is the driving of as many as 300,000 rivets in some planes. In contrast, the shell of the "plastic plane" comes in only three parts—wings and body. Success of this process means stronger, lighter, faster, and far more economical methods of building and operating. From plastic airplanes to plastic terraplanes (automobiles) would be the next step.

This War of the Substitutes means more than a battle between materials. It means vast social changes. For instance, a town built around a factory whose metal product is captured by "Ersatz" must find a new article to make or lay off its workers. Metal mines, ore railroads, cabinet shops, silk mills, may all be caught in the backwash of this epoch-making war. Big beneficiaries, will be the farmers. The Plastic Army carries a bright beacon of hope for them—settlement of their two-decade old problem of price-busting surpluses. Remember, the basis of two or the four plastic groups is farm products!

Tells on Goebbels

Gitta Alpar

Visiting New York, Gitta Alpar, Hungarian actress, gave the "inside story" of the beating her ex-husband, Gustav Froelich, gave Nazi Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels. She said Froelich beat Goebbels because of his attentions to Lida Barova, Czech actress, but that the story was released only after six months, as a publicity stunt for Froelich, an actor.

The Great Game Of Politics

son think those two million and more Negro voters in the debatable States, who voted for Mr. Roosevelt that year were? Independents? What does he think swung that great Negro vote, for so many years the basic asset of the Republican party over to the Democrats? Mr. Roosevelt's personal charm and principles? Mr. Jackson knows as well as anyone that what brought over those two million regular Republicans in 1936 was a remarkable combination of WPA relief money, Federal patronage and long elaborate and expensive campaign of coddling.

IF HE does not know these things let him ask Mr. Farley. Or Senator Guffey, who, with the enthusiastic cooperation of Mr. Roosevelt started the drive to capture the colored vote in 1933. Or Mr. Stanley High, who headed the Good Neighbor League, which was one agency most effective in bringing them over. Or he might ask Mr. John Hamilton or any other of a hundred Republican politicians who suffered acutely as they watched these millions of regular Republicans being corralled in 1936. Really, Mr. Jackson ought not to make ridiculous assertions of that kind. They are so manifestly wrong as to throw doubt on other things he states as fact.

THE truth is that though in their manner of delivery they could hardly be improved, neither Mr. Jackson nor Mr. Roosevelt enhanced his reputation by his Jackson Day speech. Mr. Jackson's facts and figures do not stand up and his political theories bog down. As for Mr. Roosevelt, the character of the speech substantiates the report that for the time at least, he has relegated Mr. Tommy Corcoran to the rear as his literary aide. Whoever wrote this speech, it is clear Mr. Corcoran did not. If he had it would have been less innocuous and of higher literary merit. Nor would it have contained two dialect stories of great age and dubious humor.

Give Defense In Slaying Of Girl

Troopers Are Heard In Trial Of Corporal Under Way At Mauch Chunk

SAY GIRL APPEARED OLDER THAN AGE

By WATSON FENIMORE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa., Jan. 12.—State Police Corp. Benjamin Franklin, namesake and descendant of the great early American statesman, scientist and philosopher, will tell a Carbon county jury today why he shot 14-year-old Joan Stevens to death in a prowl car last June 5.

The husky, 33-year-old suspended trooper, who was named "Benjamin" in honor of his family's illustrious ancestor, will appear on the witness stand when court opens, Ben Branch, chief defense counsel, announced last night.

Franklin, married and the father of two, will be the 12th defense witness to be presented in the five days of his trial on second-degree murder charges.

Self-Defense Claimed

Claiming self-defense, he has insisted that he shot the Nesquehoning school girl as he and Private Edward Swatji, of the Lehighton sub-station, were driving her in the car, because she threatened them with a toy pistol they thought at the time to be genuine.

The troopers had picked up the girl for questioning about a bank robbery scheme she claimed to have uncovered and was anxious to divulge to police. Half an hour later she lay lifeless in the rear seat of the car on a Nesquehoning street with eight bullet wounds in her body.

Testimony that the highly-imaginable Joan, who delighted in tales of gangsters and gun-molls, would pass for a young woman of 18 was before the jury today following two-hour appearances by each of two fellow troopers of Franklin on the witness stand.

Mature Appearance

Joan's mature appearance was stressed in direct examination of Swatji and Private R. L. Spence, who on June 4 had kept the first of two rendezvous with the girl. Their testimony was considered important in bearing out the defense contention that although the victim was only 14 and a seventh grade pupil, she seemed at least four years older.

After describing how he and Swatji had picked up the girl on June 4 and received from her a letter hinting at forthcoming robberies in this area, Spence said:

"She was rather good-looking in a certain way. She was slender. Her hair was long reaching to her shoulders. She appeared normal in all ways. Her face was well covered with rouge. Her lips were painted and I could see her finger nails were painted red." He said he never questioned the age of 18 that she gave.

Frequent skirmishes between defense counsel, headed by Branch, and the prosecution, led by District Attorney Albert Heimbach, developed during last night's session.

Although the girl told a fantastic story of a gang of 25 Philadelphia and New York "gangsters" making ready to raid banks and business houses, no doubt ever was cast on her credibility, Swatji insisted.

"Weren't there any doubts expressed as to the truthfulness of Joan's story," he was asked.

"I didn't hear any," he replied. "There was no doubt in my mind that she was telling the truth."

Swatji admitted no police investigation of Joan's identity was made in Nesquehoning after the June 4 meeting and that no attempt was made to follow her when she left the car in Nesquehoning that night. Spence additionally said he failed to question her as to her source of information on the bank robberies.

All tax assessment books of Ellwood City have been returned to the assessors and a re-assessment is ordered by the county commissioners. The books as turned in show some inqualities as compared to other sections of the county and the commissioners decided to have the assessments gone over.

With a mass of figures and reports in front of him, County Controller Frank W. Hill is engaged in the building of the annual budget just now. Every department's figures must be gone over, estimates of last year checked against actual results and sometime before February 9 the budget must be ready for public display. After being on display for twenty days it will be adopted by the commissioners and the tax levy set.

Walter F. List was appointed deputy constable for Mahoning township on Thursday morning.

It's a poor year that the state doesn't hand down new rules about public buildings. The latest one is the necessity for a fire screen at the top of the back stairway leading to the court rooms and law library.

The fire screen will really be a huge partitioned window with a door in it at the top of the stairs. In case of fire downstairs the smoke would be held away from the second floor.

Refunds of school, road, light and library delinquent taxes for the month of December have been made to the various political sub-divisions of the county by County Treasurer Earl R. Wimer. The statement which has been audited by County Controller Frank W. Hill and his staff totals $22,945.82.

Political Commissars Within Red Army Ranks Appears To Be Failure

By J. C. OESTREICHER
International News Service Foreign Editor

Joseph Stalin's ingenious scheme of planting political commissars within the ranks of the Red army to ensure unflagging loyalty to the Kremlin took on all the characteristics of a monumental failure today.

Disclosure of friction between these ideological major-domos and Soviet officers and soldiers faced with the practical job of waging incredibly difficult warfare throws an interesting light upon what is probably the greatest weakness of military dictatorships.

It goes without saying that career officers in any army are bound to dislike the idea of being saddled with a non-military functionary to whom lip-service must be paid and who is in a position to give orders, whether he knows anything about military strategy or not.

International observers have long awaited an opportunity to see how this system would work out in practice. It seemed to be a satisfactory arrangement in Poland, where the Russian army steamrollered into White Russia and the Ukraine without any real opposition. The Soviet officers then were able to put themselves up at the best hotels and leave the task of selling the Kremlin's credo to the commissars.

The political attaches found this work well within the scope of their capabilities. They had been trained for years in the art of proselytising and enjoyed nothing more than making soap-box harangues to bewildered Polish peasants who were overnight transmogrified into Russian proletarians.

Finland, as all the world knows, has presented quite a different problem, and the inference is clear that in the frozen Finnish wilderness the commissars have become excess baggage.

It is not at all impossible that they have demanded comforts and considerations in accordance with their station and it is not difficult to imagine a good many strained situations within various Soviet unit commands on the battlefront. The commissars have all the advantages. They can always telephone or telegraph the Kremlin with complaints if they don't like the way things are going. Red army officers, on the other hand, don't even enjoy the solace of salutes from their men.

The infusion of party functionaries within military ranks is carried to extremes in Russia and in Germany. The French and British armies are liberally besprinkled with secret agents who report back to headquarters on any signs of dissension within the ranks, but their identities are never known and their activities anything but ostentatious.

Quintuplets May Appear At Fair

Contradictory Reports On Appearance Next Year At New York Fair Of "Quints"

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—The Dionne quintuplets are coming to the New York World's Fair, Mayor F. M. LaGuardia proudly announced today.

The mayor said he had been assured by Harvey D. Gibson, fair chairman, that plans to place the five famous girls on exhibition had been completed.

But contradictory reports came from Canada in denials by Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, the quins' physician; Oliva Dionne, their father; Percy Wilson, one of their guardians, and Keith Munro, their business manager.

Nevertheless, the mayor said it was his understanding a replica of the Dionne nursery will be constructed on the site of the razed Russian building. It will be equipped with "one-way glass" permitting visitors to see the quins inside without being seen by them. Dr. Dafoe, the mayor said, will be in constant attendance. All receipts from admissions will be turned over to the Canadian Red Cross. Extraordinary precautions will be taken to safeguard the quins during their sojourn —a visit that is expected to prove an attendance boon to the fair.

New Castle artists represented are: Edward Shields, James Sotus, and Fred Alexander.

They were among the 196 men and women, of the 435 artists who submitted entries, that are represented by accepted works in the exhibition. Competition this year was increased since former residents of the three states also were eligible to submit entries, for the first time.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 12.—If you want to know what good luck really is, just ask Henry Grabowski, 20-year-old window cleaner. Today, he considers himself the luckiest man alive.

Grabowski, engaged in cleaning a fifth floor window in a downtown office building, fell 60 feet when the sash and frame gave way. He landed on top of an automobile, putting a big dent in same.

As for Grabowski, he suffered only a sprained back and mild contusions. He figures there was more damage on the car than to himself.

Hull's Reciprocal Trade Treaty Program Brings Committee Controversy

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Countering a blistering Republican attack, Secretary of State Cordell Hull on Thursday insisted the administration's reciprocal trade program is promoting domestic prosperity and eventually will aid in lasting world peace.

Appearing before the house ways and means committee to open the fight for continuance of the program for three years, Hull engaged in heated debate with Rep. Harold Knutson (R) of Minnesota over the benefits of the trade policies.

Hull's Contention Challenged

Knutson challenged Hull's contention that the 22 trade treaties have been largely instrumental in assisting agriculture and industry. Knutson also derided Hull's assertion that the American trade program has been an effective instrument of peace.

"I can't recall any wars during the operation of the Ford-McCumber tariff act, but there has been constant warfare since the reciprocal trade agreement policy was adopted in 1934," Knutson said.

"The agreements have had the effect of inducing many nations to abandon controversial and discriminatory practices that often lead to war," Hull replied. "If we had more help abroad and at home we would have made more progress."

Objects To Hull's Statement

Knutson objected to the secretary's argument that the Republican Smoot-Hawley tariff of 1930 had depressed farm income.

"Farm income rose from $4,600,000,000 in 1932 to $6,300,000,000 in 1934 before the trade agreement program went into operation," Knutson asserted.

Hull observed that this was brought about through the early policies of the Roosevelt administration.

Hull denied Knutson's contention that the export-import bank loans were largely responsible for the rise in American exports during the past five years.

"I do get discouraged sometimes," Hull observed, "the export-import bank is doing a little export financing—it is a mere drop in the bucket.

To a plea for more cooperation on foreign matters, Knutson interrupted with a remark that he was trying to do what is best for the nation.

"I am glad to hear that and I am sure of it," Hull remarked.

"I recognize that as sarcasm," Knutson replied with some heat.

Earlier, Hull in a prepared statement asserted that the program seeks to advance domestic prosperity and promote world peace.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

There is a great variety of food in the United States today.

It is sometimes a problem to get a well-balanced diet.

There are five classes of foods always available.

First are the old reliable breakfast foods.

They include wheat, oats, corn, rye, barley, rice, etc.

Some of these have been processed out of recognition.

Such disfiguring may rob them of their health values.

All dairy products, including milk, should be eaten.

Fruit is highly important in any balanced diet.

Vegetables, green, red and yellow ones, are vital.

Protein in meat, fish or eggs is the fifth meal ingredient.

These five foods make for a well-balanced diet.

Super Tax On All Net Income Tax Pondered

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Administration democrats in the Senate today represented President Roosevelt as "interested" in a taxation plan based upon a 10 per cent "super tax" to be levied upon all net income tax payments.

The President last fall secured a series of estimates for the Treasury outlining returns to be expected from various types of taxes and the data in "super tax" caught the Presidents' eye. Fiscal leaders in Congress said, however, that the President has made no direct recommendations for such a tax even privately.

Senator George (R) of Georgia, influential Senate Finance Committee member, said he "Had heard it as one suggestion of several," but added:

"I don't think much of it, and I think it would be a very crude way to try to raise taxes. It has been discussed, I know, but I have heard no committee members express any support for it. Before I would consent to any such tax the entire structure of revenue protection would have to be examined, and I know others who feel the same way."

Walker Will Not Oppose Guffey In Senate Race

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Reiterating President Coolidge's famous "I do not choose to run," Frank C. Walker, former treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, today eliminated himself as a possible opponent of Senator Joseph F. Guffey (D) of Pennsylvania when the latter seeks renominataion this year.

Following a conference with President Roosevelt, Walker, a Pennsylvania chain theater operator, told White House reporters yesterday that he had seen stories listing him as one of the three possible opponent for Guffey and then added:

"But I do not choose to run."

Walker's name, along with those of Francis Biddle, Mr. Roosevelt's new solicitor-general designate, and William C. Bullitt, American ambassador to France, were mentioned in news dispatches as opponents for Guffey acceptable to John B. Kelley, Philadelphia democratic leader. Kelley, himself was a White House caller Tuesday.

Brooding Hunter Commits Suicide

Hunter Who Accidentally Shot Companion Who Died, Kills Himself

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 12—John Antocheck, 42 McKees Rocks, who blamed himself for the accidental deatth of a hunting companion, was found shot to death Thursday in a cemetery.

Police said that in the deer season Antocheck had gone hunting in Potter county with a party of six. One of the party, Ray Streets, 48, was wounded in the hip by a stray bullet. He died Wednesday at St. Mary's Hospital. His funeral is scheduled for tomorrow.

Antocheck blamed himself for firing the shot. He gave blood transfusions to Streets, spent week ends at the hospital with him, and assumed all expenses.

Wednesday, as Street's condition became worse, Antocheck became so moody that the man with whom he roomed called a doctor. Although the doctor attempted to cheer him, he was unsuccessful. Antocheck left his home last night and nothing more was learned until this morning.

Police said it was not known whether Antocheck was actually the man who fired the shot that wounded Streets.

State Trooper Tells Of Slaying

Testifies In Own Defense In Death Of Girl, At Trial Today

SELF DEFENSE IS STAND OF TROOPER

By WATSON FENIMORE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa., Jan. 12.—Fourteen-year-old Joan Stevens' toy pistol appeared so real and her threats so earnest that she frightened burly State Police Corporal Benjamin Franklin into "defending his life" by pumping eight bullets into her 87-pound body.

From the witness chair in Carbon county's ancient courthouse, where he is on trial for second degree murder, the namesake and descendant of the great early American statesman today relived the ill-fated night of last June 5.

In a firm and steady voice he described to the jury of nine men and three women every act he performed "in the line of duty" before, during and after the slayings of the Nesquehoning grade school pupil.

When he looked into the black muzzle of what turned out to be a toy pistol, Franklin told the jurors he thought "I was about ready to be killed."

And for that reason, he continued, he slid from the front seat of the moving automobile, which was being operated by Private Edward Swatji and opened fire.

As the trooper told of Joan's death, the silence of the court chamber was broken by the weeping of her mother, Mrs. John Stevens.

The dramatic testimony of Franklin, who faces a term of 10 to 20 years if convicted, highlighted the fifth day of the trial.

Only one other incident marked the session. It came when opposing counsel argued over the admissability of a recorded telephone call made to the state police sub-station at Lehighton the day before Joan was killed.

When state counsel objected to the book-pointing out the record of the call was not in chronological order with other entries—Ben Branch, defense chief counsel, sought vainly to withdraw it from evidence.

Real Governmental Economy On Way Says Senator Byrd

Virginia Senator Ventures Prediction That Change Is About To Occur

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—A prediction that "real governmental economy" is on the way was sounded unexpectedly today by one of the most vigorous critics of New Deal spending—Senator Byrd, Virginia.

Not once in the past several years has Byrd ventured such a prediction, but he believes the current congressional wave of economy demands is at last "the real thing." However, he coupled his cheerfulness on this score with a warning that the administration "hasn't stopped reaching out for power," and said this was closely connected with the question of government spending.

"I think congress is coming to real governmental economy at last," Byrd said. "A few years back you couldn't get even an expression for economy in congress; now we hear it on every side.

"It looks like we are coming to realize finally that we can't forever spend two dollars for every one we take in."

The Virginian's warning against "concentration of power" was directed specifically at lump sum appropriations asked by the administration, but in effect, it echoed the sharp attack on "arbitrary powers" of the administration delivered in the senate by Senator Borah (R) Idaho. He said the government already had "gone too far in this direction," and called for a halt.

New Year—New Leaf— Why Not New Car?

THE slate's clean, the past is past, you're making a new beginning on a new year you hope will be happier and finer and richer — how about doing the job up right?

You spot the fun possibilities in this brilliant and buoyant Buick just by watching it flash by, but have you been in to try it?

Do you know what it's like — first hand, we mean — to have a hundred-plus Dynaflash horsepower waiting your treadle-foot's nudge? Have you sampled the thrill in such an engine micro-poise-balanced to smoothness a wrist watch can't hope to equal?

Today's winter-roughened roads give you swell chance to try out BuiCoil Springing's gentle ride — raw weather emphasizes the stout snugness of Unisteel Bodies by Fisher and the convenience of the Flash-Way Direction Signal.

Now's when you most need firm new rubber — sure, soft, tiptoe brakes — Buick's automatic choke — stout, taut frames and rugged bodies, and why wait for spring to buy beauty that gives your spirits a lift?

Then too, driving speeds are naturally lower now and driving distances shorter, making this the best time of all to get a car properly started in life.

So figure it out! It's a new year. You've turned a new leaf. Ask your Buick dealer what a new Buick will cost you now — and let every month of 1940 contribute to a happy new year!

The model illustrated is the Buick SUPER model 51 four-door touring sedan $1109 delivered at Flint, Mich. White sidewall tires additional.

Not a six but an EIGHT for $895 and up delivered at Flint, Mich. • Transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories — extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

MORE ABOUT SINUSITIS

In treating an acute attack of sinus infection in either a child or adult, one of the first things to do is take measures to reduce the inflammation and the swelling of the nasel wall at the entrance to the sinus. The infection in the sinus usually causes a swelling of the passage from the sinus to the nose and when this happens the pus obviously cannot drain out as it should. When this happens, the sinus keeps becoming reinfected by the pus.

The best place for a person with a sinus attack is bed, and there it is a good idea to apply calomel to the nose to reduce the swelling and to keep applying warm packs or hot water bottles to the forehead, the nose and cheek to help decrease the inflammation. A liquid diet is best.

In treatment by a physician various drugs will be sprayed or painted over the infected areas every two or three hours. These also tend to reduce swelling and help in draining pus from the cavity.

These measures nearly always bring an end to the infection—if they are religiously carried out. Occasionally however, they fail, and then a minor operation is resorted to.

I should say that the fad for operating on sinuses has suffered a severe set back in recent years. It used to be that such operations were undertaken more frequently than they are now. If a case of sinusitis was a bit stubborn, then an operation was undertaken. There are fewer such operations today because it was found that once you started operating, then further operations were often needed. The trouble would recur and then there would have to be another operation. So today surgery is resorted to only in the worst cases.

Naturally, if a definite cause is found for the sinusitis it should be removed if possible. By that I mean that if a diseased upper tooth has infected an antrum, the tooth should be extracted. If it isn't then the trouble will return.

I have also found that growths in the nose often need to be removed if proper drainage is to be established for the sinuses. Polyps or growths in the nose, are often a nuisance and cause complications when a sinus is diseased. I remember one patient I had who had a number of these growths in his nose. Every winter I removed them and they grew in again. Finally, in despair of curing him I sent him down to Toronto to a specialist. There he had them removed again and was given treatment calculated to keep them from recurring. But next year he had them again. Until he died that was my annual job—removing these polyps.

The acute sinusitis, as I have said before, is comparatively easy to treat, and that is the reason I counsel mothers to watch their children for signs of this trouble. If it is allowed to run along for a while, then it may become chronic.

When sinus trouble does become chronic, then the job of curing it is really difficult. The ordinary methods I have told you of above are of little use. Often an opening will have to be made from the sinus to the nasal passage and the sinus washed out and drained. This treatment may have to be repeated, and in really stubborn cases it is often necessary to make two openings into the sinus.

All Autos Must Be Inspected By End Of January

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 12.—Secretary of Revenue William J. Hamilton, Jr., today reminded Motor Vehicle owners that the deadline for having their cars inspected is January 31, 1940.

On February 1st each Pennsylvania owned automobile must carry a new sticker on its windshield. Failure to do so will mean arrest and punishment. It is a violation of the motor code not to have a car officially inspected twice each year.

Secretary Hamilton in a statement today placed the Department of Revenue squarely behind the official semi annual inspection when he said:

"Inspection of motor vehicles in Pennsylvania will be carried on by the Revenue Department with all the force and vigor at its command because it is one of the most important factors in promoting safety on our streets and highways.

"An automobile with its steering apparatus awry, with bad brakes, wheels out of line or lights that blind the other fellow is just as much of a menace to safety as a drunken driver.

"I should think that every automobile owner would court an honest inspection of his car twice a year as the state requires. By doing so he is taking out additional insurance against death or injury.

Senate Aids State Of Ohio

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The senate Thursday passed the Jenkins bill directing the treasury to pay the state of Ohio $1,338,160 in social security benefits withheld in October, 1938.

Because of a senate amendment, the measure now goes back to the house for adjustment of differences. The house passed the bill during the last regular session in 1939.

The amendment attached was offered by Senator Burke (D) of Nebraska, and would require the state of Ohio to certify that the amount specified in the bill is correct.

DAIRY HEARD IMPROVEMENT RECORDS FOR DECEMBER

In submitting a report for the month of December 1939 for the work of the Lawrence County Dairy Herd Improvement Association, Wayne Walker and Frank Wright, testers for the Association state that 34 herds were tested during the month. 523 milking cows were included in these herds from Lawrence and Beaver counties, and 118 cows were reported dry for the month. Thirty-six of these animals had records over 50 pounds butterfat.

The registered herd owned by Lauren Thompson, New Wilmington led the Association in milk and butterfat production with an average per cow of 867.8 pounds milk and 47.36 pounds butterfat for the month. The Holstein herd owned by H. B. Hoye, New Castle, R. D. 2, was second in milk production with an average of 842.9 pounds milk per cow. A mixed herd owned by K. H. Brenner, Rochester, Pa., came third with 770.7 pounds milk for the average. The Jersey herd owned by J. W. Martin, Bessemer was second in average butterfat production with a record of 37.91 pounds butterfat per cow. The Jersey herd owned by N. E. Sampson, Volant, Pa., was third in the Association list, having an average of 31.85 pounds butterfat for the month.

For individual butterfat production, two Jerseys owned by Lauren Thompson, New Wilmington, led the Association; one a 4-year old with a record of 86.6 pounds butterfat, and the other a three year old producing 76.2 pounds butterfat. A seven year old Jersey owned by R. N. Moose, Volant was third in the Association with a production of 73.0 pounds of butterfat. Fourth in the Association was a five year old Jersey owned by F. W. Byers, North Beaver township with a record for the 31 day testing period of 70.6 pounds butterfat. A Guernsey owned by W. R. Fox, Enon Valley, was fifth, with a record of 69.1 pounds butterfat.

Nine cows in the Association completed records more than 300 pounds butterfat in 305 days of their lactation ending during the testing period of December 1939.

Average feed cost for one pound of butterfat was $0.29 and the feed cost for 100 pounds milk was $1.29, and the average test being about 4.5%.

ESSENTIALS IN FEEDING AND CARE OF DAIRY COWS

The returns a dairyman receives from his herd depend upon the ability of the cows to produce milk and upon the feed and care they receive. Both are equally important.

Poor cows are such inefficient producers of milk that, even though they receive the right feed and care, they can never return a reasonable profit. On the other hand, the cows that have the ability to produce become poor and unprofitable producers if they are not fed and cared for properly.

There are a number of essential factors in a good dairy management program. For example, a profitable dairy cow must have comfortable surroundings. She must receive an economical, well-balanced ration which provides essential nutrients. The ration should be palatable and contain a reasonable variety of feeds. Each cow should be fed grain in proportion to her actual production.

Other requirements af a good dairy management program include regularity of care and feeding, supplying plenty of good water, and kindness on the part of the dairyman. It is important to have a dry period of the proper length along with correct feeding to prepare a cow for freshening.

PRUNE FRUIT TREES IN DORMANT SEASON

The dormant season is the best time to prune fruit trees. This does not mean, however, that the entire dormant season is equally suited for pruning. Usually, when winter weather is severe enough to injure trees, those pruned in the fall recover more slowly than those not pruned until spring, or left unpruned.

It is not always feasible for growers having large orchards to delay pruning until late. It is advisable for them to begin pruning early enough to insure completion before spring growth begins. The best plan is to start pruning among trees least likely to suffer winter injury.

Apples and pears are hardier than other fruit trees. Sour cherries are intermediate, while peaches and sour cherry trees are most likely to suffer winter injury. Although grapevines are apparently as hardy as apple trees, it is best not to prune them until the first cold spells have killed tender canes.

As a general rule, it is best to delay pruning in blocks of tender varieties, in exposed locations, or where heavy cutting is necessary.

PRUNING REDUCES FIRE HAZARD IN PINE WOODS

Have you ever wondered why the side pruning of planted pines is becoming so popular? This method of management has several distinct advantages.

In the first place, the young forest takes on an orderly and attractive appearance after pruning; the owner can go into his woodlot and enjoy its beauty. Pruning minimizes the fire hazard. It results in the development of trees that will produce high quality lumber.

Pruning usually begins when trees are 10 feet high. Side branches up to five feet from the ground are removed. Two years later, additional limbs are cut, the process being continued until the best trees are cleaned to about 17 feet from the ground. The trees are pruned in winter.

WHAT MAKES PREMIUM BAKED GOOD EXHIBITS?

Next week many homemakers in Lawrence county are going to spend more time in their kitchens baking breads and cakes to exhibit at the annual Farm Show in Harrisburg.

Often exhibitors do not understand the judges' decisions and ask, "What makes a food product worthy of a premium award?"

Let's go behind the scenes and follow the judge as she makes her placings, suggests Miss Julia Markle, home economics extension representative of Lawrence county.

The judge is examining loaves of bread and considers only rectangular loaves. Premium loaves are well-proportioned, evenly rounded on top with a uniform brown crust, slightly darker on the top, about an eighth-inch thick. The perfect crust is crisp, tender, smooth and free from cracks or bulges. She lifts each loaf to see if it is light in proportion to its size. These are points the judge considers in the general exterior appearance of a loaf of bread.

Next the judge cuts each loaf to determine the texture, grain and color of the bread. Premium bread has a tender, elastic crumb, free from dryness or doughiness. The grain consists of fine cells, slightly lengthened and evenly distributed, and the color of the bread is characteristic of the ingredients used, and free from dark streaks. Usually a milk bread has a whiter color than one made with potato water. Good bread has a nutty flavor with no taste of yeast or sourness.

Under cakes there are two classes: butter and sponge cakes. In general the judge considers three points: exterior appearance; texture, grain and color, and flavor.

Premium butter cakes are symmetrical in shape, slightly rounded on top, but free from cracks or peaks. The sponge cake also has a symmetrical shape but a level top. When lifted, both types of cakes are light in proportion to their size. Icings are creamy, moist, free from crystals, stickiness or crustiness, the flavor delicate and suitable to the cake. A colored icing is pale and the design simple.

A good butter cake has a tender, moist crumb, velvety to the feel of the tongue, while the sponge cake has a tender, feathery elastic crumb. The grain in both types of cakes is fine with round, evenly distributed cells, and no tunnels or hopes. The color of each cake is uniform and characteristic of the ingredients used.

A butter cake, to be worthy of an award, has a good flavor with no undesirable taste of fat, leavening, extracts or other ingredients. A sponge cake has a delicate frothlike flavor with no taste of excessive acid, extract or eggs.

Consider these judging points carefully before you choose your entries for the 1940 Farm Show, Miss Markle advises, so you too may have a chance to win a premium on a better food product.

'DRUNKOMETER' USED IN INDIANA TO TEST DRIVERS

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—Twenty states of the United States, Hawaii, Finland and a number of South American countries are using the drunkometer, developed at the Indiana University medical center here, according to Indiana authorities.

The device, invented by Dr. R. N. Harger, toxicologist of the Indianapolis University School of Medicine, determines whether there is an undue amount of alcohol in the person's blood by chemical testing of the breath. It is used in traffic violation or accident cases.

In Indiana, more than 1,500 convictions for drunken driving have been obtained in which the drunkometer was employed and there have been only 25 acquittals when the device indicated inebriation.

The American Medical Association has recommended that other states follow Indiana in passage of a law specifying the amount which legally determines drunkenness. Indiana was the first to pass a law of this nature and the only other state following suit is Maine.

Foreboding Over Strange Dream Is Seen As Justified

McKees Rocks Man Has Unusual Experience During Day After Dream

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 12— A strange dream, wherein two spiders crawled under a door, made Arthur Keverline, McKees Rocks store proprietor, feel apprehensive. His fears were borned out, it was indicated today, by the events that followed.

First, Joe Profozich, a driver for a soft drink company, visited Keverline at his store. He had taken one case of soft drinks to the basement and went out to where he had left his truck.

It wasn't there. At the foot of steep Chartiers avenue hill, it rested against an embankment. Cases and bottles were strewn over a wide area and the engine was on fire. Police said the brakes slipped. That was the first spider.

Well, the excitement had barely died down when someone informed Leverline that "John had killed himself." Then, it developed that John Antochek, 42, a naturalized citizen and a repairman for the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad, who lived a quiet life of a bachelor in a room above Keverline's store had taken his own life in remorse. That was the second spider.

Antochek and a companion Ray Streets, were hunting in December when the latter was wounded by a stray bullet. Antochek, friends said, figured it might have come from his gun. Tuesday night, Streets died in a hospital at St. Mary's Pa., one month after the accident. Antochek became upset and after brooding for hours, he went out. Yesterday, his body was found, a rifle lying nearby.

Another transport plane took off from Chicago at 4 a. m. to pick up the passengers and continue the flight westward. All passengers had declared themselves ready to continue the journey, the Chicago office of the line announced.

In addition to Capt. Wheeler, the crew consisted of Assistant Pilot J. H. Pennoyer and Stewardess Miss Mary McCleary.

The passengers aboard were: Mrs. James O'Keefe, Chicago; W. F. Ransom, Oak Park, Ill.; R. E. Foreman, New York City; K. Niida, New York City; Walter Kuhlman, Stockton, cal.

Few Of Large Cities Have Cash For Conventions

Most Of Cities Appear To Believe They Can't Afford These Luxuries

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—With Democratic and Republican national party leaders preparing to name the date and place of their 1940 nominating sessions, most of America's convention cities appeared today to believe that the political sessions are luxuries which they cannot afford.

Philadelphia with the greatest show of enthusiasm and cash, is prepared to put $500,000 into the convention kitty if it can attract both sessions, but the Quaker City is an exception. Chicago is bidding for both conventions through its association of commerce, but no money has been raised nor have convention guarantees been discussed.

Atlantic City is canvassing for pledges for the Republican convention and Los Angeles reports pledges of $250,000 but no cash for the Democratic convention.

Other cities—New York, Cleveland, St. Louis, Denver, Kansas City and Detroit—either want the conventions but have nothing to lay on the line or want no part of them because they appear to be all-go and no income.

Gestapo Spies Are Weeded Out

British Take Steps Against Secret Agents Among War Refugees

ARE BEING PLACED IN CONFINEMENT

By HOWARD BERRY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON.—More than 100 Gestapo spies have been discovered by the British authorities among the 50,000 German and Austrian refugees who are trapped in England by the outbreak of war while on they way to new homes in North and South America.

And there may be more spies, for the British authorities have not yet completed their investigations into the antecedents of all refugees.

The spies, who have been discovered posing as refugees, are now in concentration camps, where they will remain under strict surveillance for the duration of the war.

Most Aliens Genuine

There are still some 5,000 aliens under restrictions in this country, but the investigation has convinced the authorities that most of them are genuine.

At the request of the refugees, arrangements are now being made to raise a brigade of 10,000 Austrians and Germans for service with the British Army.

They will be volunteer. Most of them will serve in labor battalions. A handful of technical experts will be drafted to specialized jobs.

This brigade it is expected, will be complete before the middle of this year.

The comb-out of aliens has enabled Home Secretary Sir John Anderson to announce in the House of Commons that friendly aliens will be allowed, under safeguards, to find jobs in Britain.

Most of the aliens are women who are already doing domestic work.

Registration Required

All who want work must register at employment exchanges. They must not be employed if British workers are available; they are to be debarred from jobs in certain areas, in plants on Government work railroads, and institutional visited by members of the British Services.

But if they find jobs they can become insured against unemployment and will be entitled to the same benefits as British workers if they lose their work.

There are today 74,000 Germans and Austrians registered in Britain —43,000 of them women.

Hitler Ego May Be His Downfall

Psychiatrist Analyzes Feuhrer, Says He Manifests Insanity

HOSPITAL HEAD GIVES OPINION

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—The Napoleonic ego of Adolf Hitler, a manifestation of insanity, will bring about his downfall, according to the opinion of Dr. Max A. Bahr, superintendent of the Indiana State Central Hospital for the Insane.

Dr. Bahr, who was educated at the University of Berlin, has just completed a study of the German Fucher from a psychiartic point of view.

"Hitler is a paranoiac—just as are about two per cent of the patients in the State Hospitals," Dr. Bahr said. "The only difference between Hitler and the unfortunates who are incarcerated in institutions is that they do not possess the ingenuity nor can the command the following of the German leader."

Dr. Bahr said that many excerpts from "Mein Kampf" reveal that Hitler pre-psychotic personality was characterized by sensitiveness and a feeling of inferiority. In consequence, he has projected into the world of reality a suspicious, paranoid, complaining and persecutory trend which could only be satisfied with the existing idea of domination and power to satisfy his ego, according to the psychiatrist.

Has Superior Intellect

"Hitler is an individual of superior intellect like many paranoiacs and his energy is largely expended in efforts whereby his self esteem is enhanced and his striving for satisfaction is attained in his exalted egotism," Dr Bahr continued.

"His compensatory feeling of superiority has developed to meet his subconscious feeling of inferiority or low station which was manifested in his pre-psychotic personality trends. He has become abnormally so self-satisfied and so convinced of his superiority to be able to conquer Europe that any antagonism which he encounters is not considered of sufficient avail.

"I recall many years ago as a student at the University of Berlin when a prominent German psychiatrist designated Napoleon that imperial impersonation of force and murder who covered all Europe with blood and tears—as a political paranoid whose paranoiac ambition was to conquer the world and who ventually met with failure by reason of a warped mind.

"A similar situation has arisen in Germany today and Hitlerism will terminate with such similar results."

Pittsburgh Man Defends His Money By Pistol Shots

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 12.—An unidentified man who exchanged a fusillade of pistol shots with Frank T. Graham, East Liberty salesman, last night as the latter walked away from his home, was sought by police today.

Graham said he had a "large sum of money" with him at the time, and a "feeling that someone would try to hold me up", hence the preparedness with the gun. He explained that as he emerged from his residence, someone started firing at him and he promptly returned the shots.

The assailant escaped in an automobile, and it was believed he was uninjured. Graham also escaped injury.

The Problem Of Forgiveness

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

The unmerciful servant rebuked

"Forgive us our debts, as we also have forgiven our debtors."—Matt. 6:12.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform lesson on the above topic for January 14 is Matthew 18: 15-19-30, the Golden Text being Matthew 6-12, "Forgive us our debts, as we also have forgiven our debtors."

The problem of forgiveness is the subject of the lesson today. How many times should we forgive those who are unkind to us or do us wrong?

Peter asked the question of Jesus. The Jewish law said you should forgive three times, no more. "Lord how oft should my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? until seven times?" asked Peter, seven being the sacred number.

Jesus answered him "I say not unto thee, until seven times, but until seventy times seven—meaning there should be no limit to the extent of forgiveness.

In the 18th chapter of Matthew Jesus told his apostles that if a brother trespassed against one of them the one injured should take the brother aside in secret and tell him his fault. If he would not listen, the apostle was to take two or three witnesses with him and again try to make him listen, and if he still would not, the matter should to taken to the church.

Tells Parable of Debtor

It was then that Peter asked how many times he should forgive one that sinned against him. Jesus illustrated His answer with a parable of a king who had a servant who owned him much money. The king was going to sell the man, his wife and children into slavery because of the debt, but the man fell at the king's feet and worshiped him and pleaded with him to be lenient and he would pay all the debt in time. The king being a kindly man was touched and forgave his servant the whole debt.

So what did the servant do? He sought out a man—a fellow servant—who owed him a much smaller sum of money, and taking him by the throat, he demanded the money. When the man pleaded with him and said he would pay as he was able, the servant who had been forgiven by the king refused to listen, but had him thrown into prison.

Other servants of the king heard of it and went and told their master. So the king sent for the servant, saying, "Shouldest not thou also have had compassion on thy fellow servant, even as I had pity on thee?" And he rebuked him and turned him over to the tormentors until he should pay.

In the 19th chapter of Matthew is told again the story of the rich rich young man who came to Jesus and asked how he might obtain ternal life. Jesus told him to obey the commandments. The young man said that from childhood he had done so. Then, said the Master, "If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast and give to the poor and thou shalt have treasures in heaven, and come and follow me."

Went Away Sorrowing

But when the young man heard that saying, he went away sorrowful for he had great possessions. Jesus turned to His disciples and remarked that it was indeed hard for a rich man to enter into the Kingdom of Heaven—"And again I say unto you, it is easier for a mamel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter into the Kingdom of God."

I wonder if that young man would have gained immortality as the apostles did, if he had done as Jesus asked him' It seemed to him too much to give up his wealth, but he would undoubtedly have gained much spiritual wealth if he had become a humble follower of the Master, whom he recognized as such, but would not follow.

Do you find it difficult to forgive your enemies? Yet to be a really good Christian you must. You must forget your own personal feelings, realizing that no one can really hurt you unless they make you angry, and revengeful. That is a real harm. But to make excuses for others who do wrong and to forgive and do them kindness, is really being a follower of the Gentle Jesus who, when suffering on the cross prayer, "Father forgive them for they know not what they do."

Then can we truly pray, "Forgive us our debts as we also have forgiven our debtors."

Excellent Messages In Hillsville Church

Slippery roads and wintry weather notwithstanding, the special services in the Hillsville Methodist church have met with a great deal of success.

Rev. A. A. Swanson, the pastor, secured some of the finest speakers in this section to assist him in the nightly services. These included the Grove City district superintendent, Rev. W. E. Bartlett, D.D.; the Epworth Methodist minister of New Castle, Rev. William A. Thornton; the superintendent of the City Rescue Mission in New Castle, Rev. Archie Gibson; the First Methodist minister of New Castle, Rev. William V. McLean, and the East Brook Methodist minister, Rev. Abram P. Shaffer. All gave splendid messages.

Tonight Rev. Swanson will preach. His subject, "The Return of Jesus". There will be no service Saturday night. A fine program is planned for Sunday, including stereopticon pictures to be presented by William Ayres of New Castle at the evening service.

Union Township Set For New Wilmington

Crucial Section 20 Contest Billed For Union High Hardwood Tonight

WAMPUM FLIPPERS OPPOSE EAST BROOK

Two inspired scholastic basketball combinations—Union Township and New Wilmington—swish nets on Union's floor tonight.

The winner of the important Section 20 fracas will be rewarded with first place. The game will follow a preliminary clash between the reserves of both squad. The initial battle is slated to start at 7 o'clock.

"Greyhounds" Undefeated

The college towners invade the Scotland Lane sector with an unblemished record having toppled nine straight opponents. The Greyhounds took an early hold on first place, winning three circuit battles. Union is in second place slot with three triumphs and a lone setback.

Reports emanating from the Township hint that the Unions have perfected a plan to halt Paul "Gulliver" Minner, district scoring sensation. Boron, Union center, drawn the Minner assignment. It will be his duty to trail the skyscraping hoopster in a manner that would befit Sherlock Holmes.

The blue and white attired courtsters are physically fit for what they term an "Herculean task." Covelli and Pilch, two of the top ranking forwards in the county will start at their posts for Union; Boron will resume at his center slot with Severa and Chiafullo taking over their sentinel berths.

Coach John Eagleson, commenting about the game, stressed the fact that his boys buck up against their toughest hurdle of the season. Pearson and N. Borowitz will start at forward for the Greyhounds; Minner, who has tallied 148 markers to date, will perform at center with Sharp and Wilson handling the guard situation.

East Brook-Wampum

While New Wilmington-Union battle for the league leadership, East Brook and Wampum play on Wampum's hardwood. The Brookers, listed as one of the bigwigs of the loop, are still in the fight for honors, occupying third place along with Bessemer and Shenango. A Wampum victory will move the Cementers to third place. The game is expected to be replete with action.

Shenango Township steps away from the league's domain, battling Greenville, away from home. Mt. Jackson is idle.

Church League Games Tonight

Epworth Tangles With Baptists, Greeks Meet St. Vitus

There will be three more games in the New Castle Church league at the "Y" tonight. The first game starts at 8 o'clock.

Two games on the card will be feature events, the third game will have the Epworth Methodist team battling the First Baptist team for the leadership of the Class AA league. The Baptists can tie the league leading Epworth team if they can triumph. The Epworths have 8 and 1 and the Baptists 7 and 1 at the moment. It will be a real battle.

The other feature game has the Othities coached Greek Orthodox team battling the St. Vitus team in a game that is of utmost importance to the Greeks in as much as they are struggling to win the first-half in Class A, being tied at the moment with the Third U. P. team. The Greeks are favorites to win the game.

In the first game the First Christians and First Presbyterian teams will engage each other.

SPORTSMEN HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET

Forerunners Of Rod And Gun Favor Deer Hunters' Control Law

Approximately three score sportsmen who have passed the 50th milestone, that being the chief rule for eligibility, held their sixth annual banquet last night in The Castleton. Among the sportsmen were famous figures of yesterday with rod and gun and, it might be added, they are all yet active. Lou Genkinger was toastmaster.

During the evening various members recited experiences garnered in the field and along the stream, not only here but in other sections of the country.

All agreed the Pennsylvania Game commission should adopt some regulations whereby a hunter would be required to pass an examination previous to being allowed to hunt deer because of the toll of dead and injured.

Among the sportsmen present were Jimmy Atkinson, Tom Elliott, Ernie Shafnocker, Wendell Shipler, William R. Jones, Sr., Hon. Judge Thomas Dickey, Sheriff M. M. Ingham, Mayor Charles B. Mayne and O. H. P. Green.

Lombardi Sour On Salary Cut

Cincinnati Catcher Who Was "Goat" Of World Series In Last Game, Is Peeved

By SID MERCER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 12—All the way from California comes a wail today from Ernest Lombardi who has been deeply wounded in the wallet by the Cincinnati baseball club.

Old Schnozzola has just received news of a $6,000 salary shave. For that money they ought to throw in a shampoo and a massage.

It has been a hard winter for Lombardi, the notorious world's series sitdown striker. He will always be remembered as the guy who took the most expensive nap at the home plate. He wasn't down a minute but it is costing him six grand. It's enough to give a guy insomnia.

Hitting Fell Off

The Cincinnati management points out, however, that old Schnoz is being penalized, not for his imitation of the dying gladiator at Crosley Field last October, but for his shortcomings over the season.

Lombardi led the National League in hitting for the season of 1938 with a .342 average. Last season he ranked No. 33 with a .287 average. He batted in only 55 runs to rank 12th in that department. He stood 11th as a fielding catcher.

The Cincinnati management argues that Big Ernie was paid in full for 1938 with a $6,000 boost for 1939. Now gets a $6,000 cut and must start from raw again on his original 1938 rating.

Patsy Murphy, featherweight fighter of almost three decades ago, is training Mike Murphy, 175 pounds. Recollection recalls that years ago we watched Patsy outpoint Banty Sharp in Ambridge shortly after Banty, of Steubenville, had gone along with Benny Leonard.

One of the better experts in picking winners and losers is Tom Kennelly. Tom has been around a long time. He can recall boxers of the George Gunther and Kid Mahoney era. And as for Tom McMahon, his predictions about winners far exceeds the times he has been wrong.

Although one may not suspect the fact is true that, at one time, George Chip had visions of becoming a major baseball star. George played the infield for Madison. However, he abandoned the baseball glove to later become the world's 158-pound champion.

It seldom occurs that one person shines in two sports. However, Frank (Jewie) Coen not only was a good ball player but also a good basketball player. During the last several years he has been employed as a game protector and is a popular officer.

The hardier sports draw most attention on the sports page but the fact remains that pistol and rifle shooting have a large number of enthusiasts here. Several times weekly various clubs hold shoots and there are some proficient marksmen in this county.

The reason why there are no amateur mat matches at the Y is because college teams are prohibited from competing against Y teams, Henry MacNichols reports. However, he has a couple of worthy wrestlers there. The local Y has turned out some good matmen.

A local sportsman recently was in Washington, Pa., where Naturalization court was held. He said that an applicant for citizenship was being examined. "What occurs annually November 1?" was one of the questions. The applicant pondered then exclaimed: "Rabbit season." This reply demonstrated the prospect had paid attention to laws. Locally when Guy Francis appeared for citizenship papers (that was years ago) Francis demonstrated not only his knowledge of laws but also baseball. Before he left the stand he had handed out a lot of worthwhile baseball information.

There once was a song: "Gee, ain't it great to meet a friend from my home town." George Chip can bear proof to such feeling and in conversation recently said that there were two localites who he met upon several occasions. One was Johnny Daugherty who now resides at New Bedford and works on this newspaper and the other, the late Clayton Reeves. In those days Johnny travelled far and wide and on his last trip west met Chip in Tulsa. Chip reports Des Moines was the last place in the west he met Reeves.

The world is small, after all. We've hopped here and there, aboard cushions, atop freight cars and in motor cars and in recent years while journeying with the boys who have made Cauliflower Ear history, many times met former New Castleites. One of the chaps who usually bobbed up somewhere was Johnny Connery, now back home. One night we towed George Perotta into Marion, O., to box Johnny Karr of Cleveland and was greeted by Connery who when he shouted his "Hello", was hobnobbing with a group of nationally known men who helped make history.

Billy Conn Awarded Plaque By Sports Writers For Value To Boxing Game

MIKE JACOBS IS HEADING SOUTH

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Sights and cites along Broadway today . . . Here's Billy Conn . . . smiling light heavyweight champion . . . showing everybody the handsome plaque sports writers gave him . . . at a liquid feed last night . . . for having done most for boxing last year.

Quote . . . "I'd rather have this plaque than a thousand buck purse."

Here's Mike (Mr. Boxing) Jacobs . . . heading for Miami again. . . . Where he'll try to get a Sunday afternoon date in March . . . for a bout between Conn and the winner of the return fight between Fred Apostoli and Melio Bettina.

Quote . . . "I'll put the fight down there if they can show me where I can make a loose buck or two."

Likes Armstrong

Here's Eddie (Bet-a-Million) Borden . . . already laying 2 to 1 on Henry Armstrong to beat Pedro Montanez.

Quote . . . "When Dizzy Dean was right . . . he was the surest bet in baseball . . . and I only hope Diz has as little trouble extracting 20 gees from Wrigley . . . as the dentist had extracting Diz's wisdom teeth."

Here's Dan (A.A.U.) Ferris . . . Quote . . . "At last we're going to see Lou Zamperini . . . the coast phenom . . . make his Broadway debut at the Millrose games . . . This kid has already done a mile in 4:08.3 . . . and he may be the successor to Glenn Cunningham."

The great ghost here is Jack Kearns . . . still trying to collect a piece from the Dempsey-Willard fight picture . . . which, by the way, still leaves him trembling as much as the actual fight did.

Quote . . . "I think I'll have Red Burman and Bob Pastor signed up within 48 hours to go 12 heats for me in the Olympia stadium in Detroit March 14."

Comiskey Serious

The big serious-looking party is Patrick Edward Comiskey . . . of the New Jersey Comiskeys.

Quote . . . "I'm having this cast removed from my hand tomorrow . . . and within a month I ought to be ready to belt over a few fellows."

The scout party in the Brown ensemble, of course, is Eddie Meade . . . Henry Armstrong's manager . . . trying to stall off a few racket boys . . . eager to put the arm on him.

Quote . . . "I wish some of these birds would lay off me at least until I collect my bit for our next fight."

The little old man . . . limping along with a cane . . . is Charley Harvey . . . who used to import foreign fighters in droves . . . still looking for a champion.

For Ten Million

Quote . . . "I'd even settle for a paluka heavyweight who could earn a few cakes and coffees."

Miller Will Likely Play On Saturday

Titan Star 6 Feet 4 Inches Will Probably Be Able To Play Against W. & J.

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 12—Although kept on the bench with a slight foot injury during the Westminster-Slippery Rock game, Fred Miller, the tallest of the Towering Titans, will probably be seen in action this Saturday night, when Westminster meets the strong W. and J. quintet on the New Wilmington court. The game is called for 3:15 o'clock.

Miller, who plays at center or forward, is six feet four inches; and in Connellsville high school captained both his basketball and football teams.

During the past two years, the Titans and Presidents have split even, Westminster winning in 1938 by a 37-33 score and W. and J. winning last year 43-40.

Sports World Ramblings

Local Sports Niblets:—"Buck" Chambers, West Pittsburg's prize leather pusher, has won the plaudits of Pittsburgh fans. Appearing in the current Sun-Tele amateur tourney, Chambers recently won the appellation "full-fledged knockout artist". In scoring over Johnny Milhalic of the Boylestown A. C., Chambers performed his fistic chore in a manner characteristic of a one Joe Louis, which is saying something when you consider Louis' status in the ring business. Chambers is competing in the 160-pound novice division.

"May I comment on your recent yarn about Paul Minner?" pens A Reader. "Just thinking. Suppose Clair Bee of the Long Island Blackbirds get wind of our Paul? He would go a long way to grab him don't you think?" Well spoken words, my friend. Mentor Bee once stepped into Oil City and coralled a one Dick Ahrens, 6 feet 11. Anyone willing to go that far, would surely go a bit farther to snatch a basketballer like Minner. But, I have a pretty good hunch that "Gulliver" Minner is already signed, sealed and awaiting delivery. Westminster College is the name.

Slippery Rock State Teachers College will step up a bit come the 1940 grid merry-go-round. The Rockets are billed for sessions with Detroit Tech at Detroit, October 12, and a clash with Geneva College, November 15, at Beaver Falls. Shippensburg, Westminster, Indiana S. T. C., Grove City, Thiel and Edinboro complete an unusually stiff schedule. . . . Andy Biordi, who is sponsoring a banquet honoring the 1939 Ellwood City grid team next Wednesday, reports that he has completed a four-star program. "Buff" Donnelli, Paul Brown, Massillon High coach, Merlyn Condit, and possibly Charley Bowser, Pitt coach, and "Jock" Sutherland, ex-Panther tutor, will be on hand.

Bill Delancey Comeback:—The baseball world is glad to hear that Bill Delancey, former star catcher of the Cards, will attempt a comeback following a five-year battle with a lung ailment. A star in the 1934 world series, Delancey was unable to recover following a severe cold in '35. Pleurisy developed and Bill's career seemed at an end. The Cards' star went to Phoenix, Arizona. The dry, warm climate helped him regain his health. He became pilot of a New Mexico club, performing in a number of games last season. The sporting world joins hand in hoping that the young star makes the grade.

MORAN TO TAPER OFF FOR SCRAP

Bartle And Davies Bout Also Interests Lawrence County Fans

After today boxing will be eliminated from the training repetoire of Frankie Moran, featherweight, this city, because of the possibility of his sustaining an injury and handicap him against Mike Candella, Golden Gloves champion of Youngstown in the Arena, Monday night. According to trainers Moran is in good condition and will taper off beginning Saturday.

Next in local importance to the Moran-Candella setto, will be the Benny Bartle, Ellwood City, vs. Willie Davies, Youngstown, bout, which will be fought at 175 pounds. Bartle is a rugged swinger. His opponent is more experienced but Bartle figures on youth to carry him through to a knockout or decision in three rounds.

Arkett vs. Simms

If Chuck Arkett, West Pittsburg, slugs with Joe Simms of Youngstown, at 145 pounds, it ought to be a gruelling scrap. Both are experienced battlers. Arkett has been fighting as an amateur for at least five years and Simms has been campaigning several years.

Other battles arranged for the show which is being sponsored by the Retail Grocers Association of Lawrence County follow:

Larry Retardo, Ellwood City, vs. Eddie Rivers, Youngstown, 118; Mike Wukas, Aliquippa vs. Andy Wertz, Youngstown, 147; Al Vancovitch, Monaca vs. Melio Donelli, Niles, 135; Sammy Portland, Monaca vs. Sonny Horne, Niles, 147, and Everett Johnson, Aliquippa vs. Mike Murphy, New Castle, 175.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Sixto Escobar is in the market again for his bantamweight title which was vacated some time ago by the action of his manager, Lou Brix.

"Brix had no right to announce I had relinquished my title without consulting me," said Escobar today before embarking for his home in Puerto Rico. "As champion, I should have something to say about giving up my crown. I never authorized Lou to announce my retirement as titleholder.

Gersons To Play Ohio Champions Here On Sunday

The Gerson basketball team has signed the strong Beil and Evans Printers of Youngstown for a Sunday game here at the Arena floor, it was announced today by Manager Walter Perch.

The preliminary game will have the local Greek Orthodox team, leaders of the Church Basketball league at the "Y," play a Greek team from the Pittsburgh district. The first game will start at 2 o'clock. Coach Manny Othities will have a strong lineup on the floor to try and upset the Pittsburghers.

Coach Mike Kulich will have the Gersons at top form for the Ohio invaders. The Gersons have been playing a snappy brand of basketball this year and are going to make a hard try for the city-county championship in the coming tourney at Washington high floor. Sammy Bullano and Nickie Gennock have been playing good ball for the Gersons this year.

High Quintet At Aliquippa

New Castle Must Win Tonight To Stay In Section Race; Two Other Games

SAME LINEUP WILL BE USED

Shortly after 5 o'clock this evening a bus will leave New Castle, carrying members of the New Castle High basketball team to Aliquippa, where at 7:15 o'clock the reserves will be called on to meet the Aliquippa reserves in a preliminary contest to the New Castle-Aliquippa main battle.

New Castle must win tonight to stay in the Section Three race. Ambridge is leading now with three wins and no defeats and will more than likely take the measure of New Brighton tonight to make it four straight. A loss for New Castle tonight will make them two and, two and it will be a tough row to hoe to overtake the "Bridgers".

The locals by winning tonight can gain undisputed possession of second place as Beaver Falls is idle. New Castle has won two and lost one, so has Beaver Falls.

Will Use Same Lineup

Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh has intimated that he will start the same lineup that began the Ellwood City game, Cowden and Rags Gennock at the forwards, Ray Bombyk at center, and Lindy Lauro and Steve Bucci at the guards. This quintet clicked very nicely against the Ellwoodians.

In reserve "Bridy" will have such tried and true subs as Vince Kelly, Ernie Adamo, Bob Cooper, Lindale Walls, Christopher and Sammy Ciazza. New Castle is well fortified this year with reserve strength.

Aliquippa will be out tonight trying hard to upset the New Castle boys for their second league win. They will be fighting mad also at the defeat handed them by the Beaver Falls High boys last Tuesday night. Head coach Nate Lippe will start his strongest available lineup in an effort to grab the win.

Other sectional games tonight will be Ambridge entertaining New Brighton at Ambridge, and Butler going to Ellwood City.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Funny thing this buying business. It makes no difference what you are buying. You go into a restaurant for dinner . . . you order roast beef well done, the waiter brings you roast beef rare. You order roast beef rare and the waiter brings you the end cut . . . it just seems that something in human nature causes constant friction but it's all a part of life . . .Another example . . . you run into a store to buy something you have had long in mind . . . the clerk can give you a hundred and one reasons why you should not buy that particular article, your mind instantly reverts back to the roast beef problem and you say "I'm not going to change my mind this time" . . . If you look tough enough the clerk will either show you the article or tell you they haven't it in stock . . . At no time should a favored article be thrust upon a customer . . . a customer who weakens usually leaves the store dissatisfied and it is a long time before that feeling of friendship returns . . . in some cases it never returns . . . Think over your own experiences . . . what do you say . . . nice going . . . Positively not!

Prices Somewhat Lower In Early Trading In New York Market

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—The stock market continued to sag today, with leaders losing 1 to more than 2 points on a broad front.

Steels bore the brunt of early selling. Youngstown Sheet & Tube dropped more than 2 points and Bethlehem almost as much. U. S. Steel and Crucible each gave up about half as much.

Other groups were hard hit also. Chrysler fell over a point in motors, and General Motors a large fraction. Westinghouse dropped 2 points on comparatively small volume, but General Electric held to its previous close.

Lesser declines were incurred by American Smelting, Anaconda, Kennecott, Consolidated Edison, N. Y. Central, Standard Oil of N. J., U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Du-Pont and Union Carbide.

Former Chicago U. Coach Signs Five-Year Contract At Coast School

(International News Service)

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 12—Clark Shaughnessy, who gave up a lifetime teaching appointment at Chicago University for a five-year contract as head football coach at Stanford University, was the unanimous choice of the Stanford board of athletic control—despite a week of apparent surface bickering and procrastination—it was learned today.

Formal announcement of the selection of Shaughnessy to succeed Claude E. ("Tiny") Thornhill, ousted by alumni pressure, was made yesterday by university president Ray Lyman Wilbur, more than 24 hours before the scheduled announcement.

Shaughnessy's Stanford salary was not announced, but it was believed to have been set at between $8,500 and $10,000 a year.

Miniature Stone Castle To Be Shown At Hobby Exhibition

"Eden Home", Stone Masterpiece Created By The Late Harry Cochran, Is Described

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 12.—In Wampum there is a man that has in his possession a work of art; namely, "Eden Home" as this masterpiece is called. Edward Cochran, the brother of Harry Cochran, now deceased has this miniature home in his possession.

This miniature stone castle took seven years to build and into its construction went 7,000 different pieces of stone, all gathered by the builder himself from the beds of rivers, creeks and runs around the town of Conneautville, Penna. This house that took seven years to build and 7,000 pieces of stone was a stupendous task when it is remembered that all the stone used had to be of the same kind.

The finished house is truly art. Even the layman who knows but little of such things realizes this as he stands and inspects the "Eden Home." It is a castle-like structure that stands perhaps two feet in height, with spires, turrets, gates, courtyards, lamps and all the rest—each finely carved and perfectly shaped by tools that the builder himself made before he started the seven year task. Attempting to describe the Eden Home through the medium of the printed word is a problem. For many persons at all interested in the art that comes from a genuine creative genius, an inspection of Harry Cochran's miniature house is decidedly interesting.

The motive behind the actual building of this "Eden Home" is told by Mr. Cochran. "My brother started the york after an injury had prevented his entering business as originally planned and there was "something inside of him" a driving urge that made him begin and finish the house."

The Eden Home is truly a work of art and the man who possessed the artistry and patience to construct such a work may sincerely be called a genius.

The public will be able to see the castle at the hobby fair which will be held in the Methodist church on the 24 to the 27 of this month. There are many interesting articles that will be on display and the hobby fair committee hopes the public will take advantage of this opportunity.

There is still room left to enter your hobby in this "Little World's Fair". There is no entrance fee. Just call 129 and inform them of your hoppy or collection. Every article entered in this fair is insured and carefully watched, day and night.

Rotary Told Of Community Needs By R. J. Schill

Benefits Of Group Efforts And Organizations Described In Forceful Manner

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 12—"Benefits of Group Efforts and Organizations in a Community" was the subject of a forceful address given at the weekly dinner meeting of the Rotary club last night in the Presbyterian church dining room by R. J. Schill, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Introduced by Thomas Patterson, who told the many things Mr. Schill had accomplished for Ellwood, the speaker described the great part the Chamber of Commerce, organized in Los Angeles, had done for that city and what the same industry had done for Detroit, making it the center of the great automobile industry.

Industrial peace and a united civic spirit have done much for the growth and progress of this city, he declared, and said that the citizens should never forget that when the late R. C. Stiefel sold his tube plant to the U. S. Steel corporation that one of the main points of the contract was that the company should always maintain a plant in Ellwood City.

Four needs, a community house, a community chest, extension of water service to the immedaite rural section, and better railroad service were cited by the speaker and he asked the club to consider these needs and give their full support to one. Attorney Joseph Humphrey suggested that the board of directors give their efforts and attention to a community chest fund.

Edward Mackasek presided at the meeting with Harold Tracer, of Beaver Falls, and Ralph Fera, this city, being visitors.

Respiration Practiced By Rescue Squad

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 12—The Rescue Squad of the Ellwood City Volunteer Fire Department held its weekly meeting last night at the Fire Station with 15 members present. This meeting was in charge of squad leader Henry who instructed each member, in artificial respiration. This subject is being stressed due to the fact that the squad has had several calls recently requiring respiration and use of the inhalator and also because emeregencies requiring this treatment are probably the most common ones.

After two hours intensive drill, Captain Kocher called a special business meeting to consider the reports of special committees and to take action on several communications. Letters of thanks from various persons helped by the squad were also read and the members expressed gratification that their efforts were appreciated.

The Rescue Squad will meet again next Thursday to study Salvage and Ventilation under Squad Leader Duncan.

Lineup Changed For Butler Game At Lincoln Gym

Tanner, Forward, And Seetch, Guard, Given Places On Starting Five

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 12.—In an effort to break into the black side of the sectional ledger, Coach Jerry Newton has decided to make a change in his starting lineup of the Ellwood City high basketball game for tonight, when the blue and white will entertain the Butler high defending champions.

The team will not be at full strength for tonight's contest, as Tom Reino has been out of school with an attack of grip, and Cartwright sprained his ankle at New Castle on Tuesday night.

When the opening whistle blows tonight, Tanner and Matrangol will be at forward, Miller at center and Seetch and Murphy guards.

Weary from long hours of practicing with his Ellwood charges, the usually optimistic and cheerful skipper is at a loss to understand why the local lads have been unable to hit the stride that he believes they are capable of in this section race. He thinks the fault lies in their inability to strike a scoring range, proving it by the fact that the Ellwood team actually had 60 shots at the basket in the New Castle game, with only eight registering.

Stinging from defeat at the hands of the Ambridge wizards, the Butler team will undoubtedly be out tonight to break into the win column, and will give the local crew a great battle from start to finish.

For once, the Reserves will be at full strength, with Tammaro and DiBagio back after illnesses. Joe Navolio will officiate at the preliminary game to begin at 7:15 p. m.

Wallace and McAnulty will handle the main contest.

Borah Attacks Edison's Plan

Assails Proposal To Give Peace Emergency Powers To President

SENATE CONFIRMS EDISON FOR CABINET

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12—The senate on Thursday confirmed the nomination of Charles Edison to be secretary of the navy after Senator Borah (R) Idaho, delivered a surprise attack on the new navy secretary's recently proposed bill permitting the president to take over industry in peace time emergency.

Taking the floor shortly before the senate acted the Idaho senator said he was "startled" by Edison's recommendation of legislation permitting the president under a "peace time emergency" to take over factories and industries.

Borah charged the bill was unconstitutional and a threat to democracy. He said:

Startling Proposition

"To me it is a startling proposition and tends to show how far we are travelling in the direction of the exercise of purely arbitrary power.

"Democracy is having a pretty fight with arbitrary power, with arbitrary government. There are those who believe that democracy will ultimately lose."

"It is just such legislation as this, legislation seizing power that is one of the things telling against democracy most."

Despite the veteran's attack—which was unexpected—the senate a few moments later confirmed the nomination on a motion by Senator Walsh (D) of Massachusetts, chairman of the senate naval affairs committee.

DEMAND HUGE BENEFIT FUND FOR FARMERS

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—A demand for congressional appropriation of $807,000,000 for farm benefit payments was placed before President Roosevelt by the American Farm Bureau Federation Thursday in face of a strong economy drive in congress.

Edward A. O'Neal, President of the Federation, told Mr. Roosevelt in a call at the White House that present budget recommendations of $8,424,000,000 must be broadened to include money for farm parity payments.

O'Neal, asserting the federation would press for action despite any economy moves, said the following appropriations for parity payments were necessary:

$242,000,000 for cotton; $218,000,000 for corn; $121,000,000 for wheat; $14,000,000 for tobacco; $12,000,000 for rice; $200,000,000 for dairy and non-basic products.
